Democrats Line Up For Farm Plan

One Republican Joins In Final Approval Tally

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed Friday a complex and controversial farm bill carrying many of the stiff production controls and penalties asked by President Kennedy.

Passage came after a week of sharp debate. A nearly solid lineup of Democrats rebuffed all major efforts to revise the bill in the direction of less stringent controls.

The measure now goes to the House where a similar bill is already awaiting floor action.

Most important features of the Senate bill are proposed new controls for Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman over planting and marketing of wheat and of corn and other livestock feed grains.

Government price support programs for these grains have piled up some $5 billion worth of surpluses among the more than $7½ billion of farm commodities now in government hands.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., who was Senate floor manager for the bill, estimated that the annual bill of about $2 billion for storing and handling these grains could be cut sharply if farmers accept the new programs.

Farmers To Decide

The new controls would come into effect only if farmers give a two-thirds vote of approval in later referanda.

Senate opponents of the wheat and corn controls insisted farmers will reject them. If they do, the price supports will drop sharply and the secretary may sell off large stocks of the government held surpluses.

Missing from the Senate bill is an administration request for a new milk and dairy control and support proposal. Both the Senate Agriculture Committee and Senate turned down efforts to include this.

Dairy Plan Defeated

A last-minute effort to get in a new dairy program was defeated 70 to 13.

But the Senate bill includes revisions of several laws and programs intended to induce farmers to convert grain and crop lands into wildlife refuges, to water con-

800 Dutch Troops Land At New Guinea

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP)—A Dutch transport brought 800 fresh troops to this island Friday to support units now fighting Indonesian paratroopers in the struggle for possession of West New Guinea.

The transport Zuiderkruis put some of the reinforcements ashore here and will take the remainder to other areas where invasion threatens. The transport transited the Panama Canal. Soldiers aboard said they had to change to civilian clothes during that passage.

Reports from Kaimana, on the westernmost part of the island, said Dutch troops and planes had opened an attack to clean up 40 Indonesian paratroopers dropped May 12. The Indonesians were reported nearly encircled in the jungles north of Kaimana.

Astronaut Quizzed By Technicians On His Orbital Flight

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—While astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter discussed his orbital space flight with experts on Grand Turk Island, a report indicated Friday that he was a very tired pilot and possibly confused on his third pass around the globe.

On Grand Turk, in the British West Indies, Carpenter, 37, showed no sign Friday that he had been adversely affected by the journey three times around the world and his long wait for recovery in a life raft.

He left the capsule and got into his one-man raft to await recovery after his Aurora 7 spacecraft had overshot its intended landing point in the Atlantic Ocean by 250 miles.

The Navy lieutenant commander talked with newsmen Friday and apologized that his flight back to earth was "a real cliff-hanger."

"No one knew where I was, and I didn't either," commented Carpenter, looking relaxed and healthy. Medical men pronounced him in excellent shape.

Trouble On Third Orbit

But he apparently had trouble during his third orbit Thursday, according to a postflight debriefing held Thursday night on a radio hookup among the 17 tracking stations of the Mercury network. The report on the session became available to the Associated Press Friday. Kauai, Hawaii, station reported Carpenter had sounded tired and his voice weak when he passed overhead on the third orbit.

Kauai provided this graphic account: "He was quite concerned about his capsule attitude and therefore, on several occasions, when capcom (capsule communicator) tried to get him on his retrosequence, and he started doing something else. There was some confusion whether he understood what the order was.

"We had the imhression that he was very confused about what was going on. But it was very difficult to assess whether he was confused or preoccupied.

Memorial Day Traffic May Kill 80 To 120

CHICAGO (UPI)—The National Safety Council estimated Friday that traffic accidents would kill between 80 and 120 persons Memorial Day.

The range marked a new concept in safety council holiday toll estimates. Heretofore, the council has estimated a definite figure.

"The new approach was decided upon after long study," a council spokesman said. "We hope it's effect will be a reminder to drivers that the responsibility is theirs.

"If the drivers obey the rules and take proper precaution," he said, "the toll will be 80, but if they disregard safety warnings the toll will go to 120."

The council estimated that 15 to 25 lives would be saved Memorial Day if every motorist wore a safety belt.

Coventry Cathedral Is Opened Again

COVENTRY, England (AP)—Coventry Cathedral, destroyed by German bombing in 1940, opened its doors Friday to a new generation of Britons.

Queen Elizabeth II, Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdown, were among a congregation of nearly 2,000 who sat in the massive new structure of pink sandstone for the formal ceremony of consecration.

The 2,000 were all that could be accommodated of 75,000 around the world who applied for tickets.

Laos Effort Now Allied Operation

RAF Squadron, New Zealanders Assist Buildup

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The military buildup launched by the United States in Thailand turned into an Allied effort Friday with arrival of armed forces units from Britain and New Zealand.

A British Royal Air Force jet fighter squadron and a detachment of 50 New Zealand airborne troops flew in to join U.S. infantrymen and Marines in a show of strength to discourage any Communist thrusts from rebel-held areas of neighboring Laos.

The token forces augment a growing American force that now totals 1,500 combat infantrymen and 1,800 Marines. The American aim is to build the U.S. command to 5,000.

It was announced in Auckland that some parachute troops of the New Zealand special air service group will head for Thailand Saturday.

An Australian air force contingent also is expected. This will round out representation in the field of four of Thailand's allies in the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The Philippines government said it too is ready to send ground or air forces, should a call come.

France and Pakistan, the two other SEATO members, stayed on the sidelines.

Hyannis Faces Housing Crisis For Negroes

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — The little Cape Cod town of Barnstable, without surplus housing and with more than 30 penniless Negroes thrust upon it by Southern segregationists, puzzled Friday night over solving a housing problem in 20 days.

By June 15 the dormitory facilities in which the Negroes from Arkansas, Louisiana and Georgia are housed must be turned back to the Cape Cod Community College, preparing to open to students for its summer term.

Even if all the adults sent to Barnstable from Little Rock and Huttig, Ark., from Shreveport, La. and Macon, Ga., were able to find temporary summer jobs in this vacation resort, the problem of housing would remain unsolved.

Even as the town fathers and a citizens' committee pondered the problem, four more "Reverse Freedom Riders" were reported en route from the South.

One was traveling from Shreveport, La., and three others from Little Rock, Ark.

The Negroes have been persuaded to travel to Hyannis, near the Hyannis Port summer home of President Kennedy and several of his family.

Three Injured At Fireworks Plant In Elkton

ELKTON, Md. (AP(— Three employes were injured Friday, none seriously, in an explosion and fire which destroyed a small fireworks plant near Elkton.

John Bello of Elkton, who owns the Mid-State Fireworks Manufacturing Corp. with his father, said all 11 of the company's buildings were destroyed in a chain reaction like a string of giant firecrackers "one right after the other."

Bello estimated his loss at $25,000.

State and city police said the first explosion at 1:40 p.m. was set off by some fireworks which caught fire while drying outside in the sun. Bello said it was impossible to determine the cause.

The three employes injured — the company employs only 10 altogether — were taken to Union Hospital in Elkton.

State Police said Mildred Henrietta Paris, 54, was admitted with severe head cuts, burns of the right hand and powder burns over her entire body, but her condition was not serious.

Treated and released were Margaret Ann Racine, 27, and Goldie Ruth Jenkins. State Police said Mrs. Jenkins was scratched on the legs and arm while running away from the fire, while Mrs. Racine suffered small cuts on her right ear and several bruises on her leg.

Firemen controlled the fire in about 30 minutes.

Fire companies from Elkton, North East and Charles Town, Md., fought the fire at the plant.

This section of Northeastern Maryland is dotted with fireworks plants although sale of fireworks is not permitted in Maryland. In the most recent explosion, at the Bacon Hill Fireworks Co. in June, 1961, damage was estimated at $30,000 but no one was injured.

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — The Rev. Martin Luther King, U. S. integration leader, will visit here later this year as guest of the Histadrut Labor Federation, it was announced Friday.

AROUND THE WORLD THIS MORNING

By United Press International

MOSCOW — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev pledged to try to "prevent a military conflagration in Laos" but warned that the movement of American troops to Thailand has aggravated the situation in Southeast Asia. He blamed the West for recent fighting in Laos and called for formation of a coalition government under neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma who returned to Laos from a European vacation.

SAIGON — Informed sources in Saigon said the International Control Commission has drafted a strongly worded majority report accusing Communist North Viet Nam of attempting to take over South Viet Nam through infiltration and subversion. The report was drafted by the Canadian and Indian members over the objections of the Polish member of the commission, the sources said.

PARIS — Justice Minister Jean Foyer agreed to take under advisement an appeal for a new trial for renegade former Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, now under death sentence for leading the Secret Army Organization in Oran. The surprise decision automatically suspended the death sentence, but only a new trial if it is granted or a commutation by President Charles de Gaulle can save Jouhaud from the firing squad.

BERLIN — Communist East Germany denounced the killing of one of its border guards as "cowardly murder" and offered a reward of $2,500 for the capture of the West Berlin policeman who shot him. West Berlin police said they shot back only after the Communists fired at them while they were trying to protect a fleeing 15-year-old East German boy.

MADRID — Bold new demands for the overthrow of Generalissimo Francisco Franco circulated in Madrid while a critical labor tieup involving some 90,000 workers went into its eighth week. In a clandestinely distributed leaflet, a group known as the Spanish Republican Democratic Action warned against "recurrence of the bloody days" of the 1936-39 Spanish civil war.

GENEVA — The United States and Russia, in a rare show of agreement at Geneva, called on the disarmament conference to condemn war propaganda. The declaration was worked out in four weeks of patient talks, but no such agreement was evident in the day's debate on general disarmament.

Refugee Flow Across China Border Halted

HONG KONG (AP)—The mass flight of refugees across the Red Chinese border into teeming Hong Kong was abruptly choked off Friday, after three weeks. Red Chinese authorities apparently had taken positive action to stem the hungry tide that had overwhelmed British facilities in this crown colony and created a many-sided international problem.

British authorities announced that the flow of illegal immigrants across the colony's land frontier has markedly diminished and the situation is reverting to normal.

There was no immediate indication what Communist authorities on the other side of the border had done to halt an exodus which had poured 60,000 refugees into Hong Kong since May 1. But there was speculation that Communist guards were using force in the hills beyond the border, out of sight of British patrols.

Communist loudspeakers were silent after a full day of broadcasting exhortations to would-be refugees to return to their villages to help grow food.

Border sources said they heard no shooting and that all appeared to be orderly and quiet at the main crossing points which the refugees had been using.

The British said Hong Kong, already overcrowded, just could not handle any more refugees. Fear of increased food shortages was cited by the Red Chinese refugees as a major reason for the exodus.

Red Germany Seeks Trade With West

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Economics Ministry confirmed Friday that Communist East Germany is trying to get West German credits for additional delivery of steel, coal, machinery, food and drugs.

There have been rumors in Bonn that the East Germans want credit totaling 1.2 billion marks—$300 million.

U.S. Nuclear Blasts Under Surveillance

Soviets Ignore Warnings; Gather Technical Data

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trio of Soviet snooper ships, rigged with elaborate recording equipment, is on station at the very edge of the U.S. nuclear test area in the Pacific, the Defense Department reported Friday.

Able to glean technological intelligence on almost every type of nuclear test, including extremely high-altitude blasts, the three ships are about 10 to 15 miles from the western perimeter of the zone around Christmas Island. The United States has warned all shipping and aircraft to stay out of the zone because of danger.

The Soviet ships presumably are within their legal rights, and would be even if they chose to move into the zone. Indeed, the announcement by a Pentagon spokesman said they had traveled through another zone, to the northwest around Johnston Island, in reaching their present position.

The ships have been warned by a U.S. destroyer to stay clear of the prescribed danger area, but ignored the warning. The spokesman said that in 1958, the Soviet Union complained that one of her research ships had suffered fallout from U.S. tests but that this time the Soviets did not seem concerned about maneuvering close to the danger zone.

The description of the ships and their capabilities as given by the Pentagon left no uncertainty about their mission.

Intelligence Mission

They are obviously on a very large-scale military intelligence collection mission, the spokesman said.

The lead ship is reported to be the 3,600-ton research ship Shokal'skiy. Among other things, this ship can launch rockets to obtain data of high atmospheric nuclear explosions—like those expected to be included later in the current U.S. test series.

From its present close-up position, the Pentagon said, the Shokal'skiy also can obtain samplings from which to make chemical analysis indicating bomb design, yield and other effects. Electromagnetic equipment can provide the time and approximate location of explosions.

Two Smaller Ships

The two smaller ships in the spy fleet are converted trawlers, with large arrays of electronic equipment. Their job is to supplement information obtained by the big research vessel.

Keeping the ships under constant surveillance is about all that the U.S. patrolling force can do.

The most recent series of Soviet nuclear tests was conducted last fall on the island of Novaya Zemlya in the Arctic Ocean north of the Soviet mainland.

This country, on the basis of official statements, seems to have obtained considerable technical information about those tests. How this might have been obtained has not been disclosed, but one possibility is that some data might have been acquired by U.S. nuclear-powered submarines operating in the area.

The Pentagon spokesman said the Soviet ships have been in the area most of the month of May. The first nuclear test in the U.S. series was conducted on April 25.

Living Costs Reach Another Record High

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surge of American families toward two-automobile ownership helped shove the nation's living costs to another record high in April.

The government announced Friday its consumers price index had risen two-tenths of one per cent to hit a new high for a third straight month.

Officials said the rise was led by a boost of nearly 4.5 per cent in prices of used cars and this apparently was due to a tight market as more and more families either bought a second, used car or kept the old one when buying a new one.

The government index climbed to 105.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, meaning it now costs over $5 more to buy what $100 would bring in that period.

The 1962 living cost increase so far has been seven-tenths of one per cent, equaling the total rise for all 1961. However, Deputy Labor Statistics Commissioner Robert J. Myers said he isn't worried over any inflationary uptrend.

Myers said he expects prices may show another increase in May but that expected lower seasonal costs for food and other items, including gasoline, later this summer probably will produce some living cost declines.

The recent living cost increases are sufficient, however, to mean that about a million workers will get pay raises of one or two cents an hour through applying the April index figures to terms in labor contracts. The pay raises will cost about $200 million a year.

Those getting the one-cent hourly raise include about 850,000 employes of General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and other auto, auto parts and aerospace manufacturers. The latter include St. Louis workers of McDonnell Aircraft who built the space vehicles for the U.S. man-in-orbit shots.

The workers getting the two-cent hourly raise include aerospace workers employed by General Dynamics at Fort Worth and Lockheed at Marietta, Ga., and employes of the Caterpillar, John Deere and Allis-Chalmers farm equipment manufacturers.

Items contributing to the April price rise included fresh fruits and vegetables, gasoline, movie admissions and medical care services. Prices were lower for pultry, eggs, milk, fuel oil and housefurnishings.

The Labor Department reported that after-tax earnings averaged $85.53 weekly for the factory worker heading a family of four. This is a new high for April, nearly matching the record of $85.70 set last December. The April increase is attributed to longer work time along with somewhat higher pay rates.

CAB Wants Pilot Strike Settled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board threatened Southern Airways Friday with possible loss of its operating license unless it resumes efforts to settle a two-year-old strike dispute with the Air Line Pilots Association.

The decision was described as the first of its kind. The airline, which serves 60 cities in the South from its headquarters in Atlanta, has continued to operate with non-union pilots.

Life . . . And Death, As Seen On Busy Street In Algiers

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—The old Moslem woman leaned to pick up scraps of food from a garbage pail.

A young European in a yellow shirt pulled out a pistol.

He fired one shot into her head.

The woman fell. Blood began to trickle across the sidewalk.

The killer put the pistol back into his pocket and walked away. No one stopped him.

This was Algiers, Rue Charras, at 11:14 a.m.

Some said: "Call the police."

Someone else said, "No, call an ambulance."

"She doesn't need an ambulance. Call the morgue," said another European.

Within three minutes the blood reached the gutter.

At 11:20 a.m. an ambulance siren screamed. City ambulance No. 25 pulled up and two helmeted firemen stepped out.

"She is dead," one of them said. "This is for the morgue not for us." The ambulance drove off.

From the windows of office buildings, hundreds of Europeans stared. There were girls in pretty summer dresses and men in colored summer shirts.

Housewives carrying baskets of supplies stepped over the puddle.

"Disgusting," one said.

Five more minutes elapsed before a police van arrived.

"One shell," a policeman announced.

Another covered the woman's battered head with her white shawl.

"Must requisition another place in the morgue. Not much room there these days," he said.

The policemen drove off.

The body lay where it fell, under the sizzling North African sun.

The new controls would come into effect only if farmers give a two-thirds vote of approval in later referanda.

Senate opponents of the wheat and corn controls insisted farmers will reject them. If they do, the price supports will drop sharply and the secretary may sell off large stocks of the government held surpluses.

MADRID — Bold new demands for the overthrow of Generalissimo Francisco Franco circulated in Madrid while a critical labor tieup involving some 90,000 workers went into its eighth week. In a clandestinely distributed leaflet, a group known as the Spanish Republican Democratic Action warned against "recurrence of the bloody days" of the 1936-39 Spanish civil war.

GENEVA — The United States and Russia, in a rare show of agreement at Geneva, called on the disarmament conference to condemn war propaganda. The declaration was worked out in four weeks of patient talks, but no such agreement was evident in the day's debate on general disarmament.

Refugee Flow Across China Border Halted

HONG KONG (AP)—The mass flight of refugees across the Red Chinese border into teeming Hong Kong was abruptly choked off Friday, after three weeks. Red Chinese authorities apparently had taken positive action to stem the hungry tide that had overwhelmed British facilities in this crown colony and created a many-sided international problem.

British authorities announced that the flow of illegal immigrants across the colony's land frontier has markedly diminished and the situation is reverting to normal.

There was no immediate indication what Communist authorities on the other side of the border had done to halt an exodus which had poured 60,000 refugees into Hong Kong since May 1. But there was speculation that Communist guards were using force in the hills beyond the border, out of sight of British patrols.

Communist loudspeakers were silent after a full day of broadcasting exhortations to would-be refugees to return to their villages to help grow food.

Border sources said they heard no shooting and that all appeared to be orderly and quiet at the main crossing points which the refugees had been using.

The British said Hong Kong, already overcrowded, just could not handle any more refugees. Fear of increased food shortages was cited by the Red Chinese refugees as a major reason for the exodus.

Red Germany Seeks Trade With West

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Economics Ministry confirmed Friday that Communist East Germany is trying to get West German credits for additional delivery of steel, coal, machinery, food and drugs.

There have been rumors in Bonn that the East Germans want credit totaling 1.2 billion marks—$300 million.

U.S. Nuclear Blasts Under Surveillance

Soviets Ignore Warnings; Gather Technical Data

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trio of Soviet snooper ships, rigged with elaborate recording equipment, is on station at the very edge of the U.S. nuclear test area in the Pacific, the Defense Department reported Friday.

Able to glean technological intelligence on almost every type of nuclear test, including extremely high-altitude blasts, the three ships are about 10 to 15 miles from the western perimeter of the zone around Christmas Island. The United States has warned all shipping and aircraft to stay out of the zone because of danger.

The Soviet ships presumably are within their legal rights, and would be even if they chose to move into the zone. Indeed, the announcement by a Pentagon spokesman said they had traveled through another zone, to the northwest around Johnston Island, in reaching their present position.

The ships have been warned by a U.S. destroyer to stay clear of the prescribed danger area, but ignored the warning. The spokesman said that in 1958, the Soviet Union complained that one of her research ships had suffered fallout from U.S. tests but that this time the Soviets did not seem concerned about maneuvering close to the danger zone.

The description of the ships and their capabilities as given by the Pentagon left no uncertainty about their mission.

Intelligence Mission

They are obviously on a very large-scale military intelligence collection mission, the spokesman said.

The lead ship is reported to be the 3,600-ton research ship Shokal'skiy. Among other things, this ship can launch rockets to obtain data of high atmospheric nuclear explosions—like those expected to be included later in the current U.S. test series.

From its present close-up position, the Pentagon said, the Shokal'skiy also can obtain samplings from which to make chemical analysis indicating bomb design, yield and other effects. Electromagnetic equipment can provide the time and approximate location of explosions.

Two Smaller Ships

The two smaller ships in the spy fleet are converted trawlers, with large arrays of electronic equipment. Their job is to supplement information obtained by the big research vessel.

Keeping the ships under constant surveillance is about all that the U.S. patrolling force can do.

The most recent series of Soviet nuclear tests was conducted last fall on the island of Novaya Zemlya in the Arctic Ocean north of the Soviet mainland.

This country, on the basis of official statements, seems to have obtained considerable technical information about those tests. How this might have been obtained has not been disclosed, but one possibility is that some data might have been acquired by U.S. nuclear-powered submarines operating in the area.

The Pentagon spokesman said the Soviet ships have been in the area most of the month of May. The first nuclear test in the U.S. series was conducted on April 25.

Living Costs Reach Another Record High

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surge of American families toward two-automobile ownership helped shove the nation's living costs to another record high in April.

The government announced Friday its consumers price index had risen two-tenths of one per cent to hit a new high for a third straight month.

Officials said the rise was led by a boost of nearly 4.5 per cent in prices of used cars and this apparently was due to a tight market as more and more families either bought a second, used car or kept the old one when buying a new one.

The government index climbed to 105.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average, meaning it now costs over $5 more to buy what $100 would bring in that period.

The 1962 living cost increase so far has been seven-tenths of one per cent, equaling the total rise for all 1961. However, Deputy Labor Statistics Commissioner Robert J. Myers said he isn't worried over any inflationary uptrend.

Myers said he expects prices may show another increase in May but that expected lower seasonal costs for food and other items, including gasoline, later this summer probably will produce some living cost declines.

The recent living cost increases are sufficient, however, to mean that about a million workers will get pay raises of one or two cents an hour through applying the April index figures to terms in labor contracts. The pay raises will cost about $200 million a year.

Those getting the one-cent hourly raise include about 850,000 employes of General Motors, Chrysler, Ford and other auto, auto parts and aerospace manufacturers. The latter include St. Louis workers of McDonnell Aircraft who built the space vehicles for the U.S. man-in-orbit shots.

The workers getting the two-cent hourly raise include aerospace workers employed by General Dynamics at Fort Worth and Lockheed at Marietta, Ga., and employes of the Caterpillar, John Deere and Allis-Chalmers farm equipment manufacturers.

Items contributing to the April price rise included fresh fruits and vegetables, gasoline, movie admissions and medical care services. Prices were lower for poultry, eggs, milk, fuel oil and house-furnishings.

The Labor Department reported that after-tax earnings averaged $85.53 weekly for the factory worker heading a family of four. This is a new high for April, nearly matching the record of $85.70 set last December. The April increase is attributed to longer work time along with somewhat higher pay rates.

CAB Wants Pilot Strike Settled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board threatened Southern Airways Friday with possible loss of its operating license unless it resumes efforts to settle a two-year-old strike dispute with the Air Line Pilots Association.

The decision was described as the first of its kind. The airline, which serves 56 cities in the South from its headquarters in Atlanta, has continued to operate with nonunion pilots.

Life . . . And Death, As Seen On Busy Street In Algiers

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—The old Moslem woman leaned to pick up scraps of food from a garbage pail.

A young European in a yellow shirt pulled out a pistol.

He fired one shot into her head.

The woman fell. Blood began to trickle across the sidewalk.

The killer put the pistol back into his pocket and walked away. No one stopped him.

This was Algiers, Rue Charras, at 11:14 a.m.

Some said: "Call the police."

Someone else said, "No, call an ambulance."

"She doesn't need an ambulance. Call the morgue," said another European.

Within three minutes the blood reached the gutter.

At 11:20 a.m. an ambulance siren screamed. City ambulance No. 25 pulled up and two helmeted firemen stepped out.

"She is dead," one of them said. "This is for the morgue not for us." The ambulance drove off.

From the windows of office buildings, hundreds of Europeans stared. There were girls in pretty summer dresses and men in colored summer shirts.

Housewives carrying baskets of supplies stepped over the puddle.

"Disgusting," one said.

Five more minutes elapsed before a police van arrived.

"One shell," a policeman announced.

Another covered the woman's battered head with her white shawl.

"Must requisition another place in the morgue. Not much room there these days," he said.

The policemen drove off.

The body lay where it fell, under the sizzling North African sun.

Employment Hits Record High In State

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Department of Employment Security reported today that employment reached record highs in both Baltimore and Maryland during April.

Stephen C. Cromwell, executive director of the department, said employment increased by 16,300 workers in the state to a total of 1,074,300 — an increase of 32,700 compared with April of 1961.

Cromwell said employment in Baltimore increased by 8,300 last month to a total of 696,800 — an increase of 15,400 compared with April of 1961.

He also said that unemployment declined by 55,900, to 4.9 per cent of the work force. April a year ago, he said, comparable figures were 70,500 persons unemployed and 6.3 per cent of the work force.

The increases in employment were in manufacturing, transportation equipment and fabricated metal products. Cromwell noted that good weather also helped the construction and service industries. He said the late Easter served as an impetus for retail trade.

Patrolman Killed; Burglar Wounded

BOSTON (AP) — A patrolman was slain early Friday in the darkened basement of a branch bank, and a would-be burglar then was cut down by police bullets in a withering gun battle. Police also fired tear gas.

Patrolman John J. Gallagher, 33, father of three, was shot point-blank when he came upon the intruder in a corridor of the Kenmore Square Branch of the National Shawmut Bank.

The burglar, Charles E. Tracey, 37, who used a bank guard's gun, suffered six bullet wounds. His name is on the danger list in a hospital, and warrants have been issued charging him with murder and breaking and entering in the nighttime.

Set up a new agency in the Agriculture Department to push industrial uses of farm commodities, including research on both products and markets.

Split On Party Lines

On the final vote, 41 Democrats and a lone Republican—Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota—voted for passage. Against the bill were 8 Democrats and 30 Republicans.

The new wheat program has been called a domestic allotment or two-price plan and had won senate passage in previous years only to die in the house.

It would abolish the present 55-million-acre minimum national wheat allotment and substitute a a minimum of 1 billion bushels. To get price supports, growers must stay within individual allotments.

The feed grain controls would apply to corn, grain sorghums, and most barley with a minimum national allotment of all such grains of 110 million tons. The administration had asked that oats and rye be included in the controls but the Senate exempted them.

Maryland Health Department Says Air Is Fit To Breathe

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland residents have been assured by the State Department of Health that the air they breathe won't hurt their health.

But it may not always be so, warns John M. Brown of the Bureau of Environmental Hygiene.

"Increased commercial and industrial activity in the state, coupled with further concentration of population, will require application of controls so that potential sources of air pollution do not develop and spread to . . . become a health hazard," said Brown.

Brown said a network of air sampling stations is being organized across Maryland for appraisal of air quality. A national air sampling network already exists and has two stations in Maryland — one in Baltimore and the other at Solomons in Calvert County.

The state network already includes a station in Hagerstown in the mountainous area of the state, one at Westminster in the agricultural area, and one at Rockville in the residential area.

Since learning of a proposed nuclear power plant on the Susquehanna River near the Maryland-Pennsylvania border, the stations at Conowingo, Rising Sun and Whiteford have been designated as the Susquehanna River Radiation Surveillance Network.

Levels of radioactivity will be measured in the water, vegetation, wild and domestic animal life and marine flora and fauna as well as the air at those stations.

The stations elsewhere will measure dustfall and smoke as well as meteorological information such as wind speed, wind direction, temperature, humidity and barometric pressure.

Astronaut

man on this pass than on the preceding ones."

Voice Was Weak

The station at Wommera, Australia injected that "we also feel the astronaut was acting somewhat tired on the last pass," and it noted that his voice was weak.

The Bermuda station joined the conversation and said that earlier in the third orbit it had noted a drop in oxygen pressure and wondered if the emergency system shouldn't have been used. An unidentified voice broke in and commented: "You know how we feel about the emergency rate, so I won't say anything more about it."

The medical expert who monitored Carpenter's flight, asked to comment about the debriefing, said Friday the astronaut obviously tired during the strenuous ride but performed his tasks "in an appropriate manner."

Dr. Stanley T. White, chief of National Aeronautics and Space Administration's life systems division, said Carpenter had trouble with some of his medical sensors, but White did not believe the pilot became confused during flight. His personal theory was that trackers thought he was confused because he was too busy at times to make requested responses.

White said also that oxygen pressure and supply throughout the flight were satisfactory—that there was no fear Carpenter might run short of oxygen or have become groggy for lack of it.

The network debriefing raised the possibility that Carpenter's condition may have contributed to the capsule being 8 to 10 degrees off the desired attitude when the retro or reverse rockets were fired to bring his capsule out of orbit.

The off-angle produced a shallower re-entry path and the resulting target overshoot. The Mercury Control Center reported the reverse rockets fired four or five seconds later than planned and added the reason for this must await detailed study of data and discussion with Carpenter.

Blood Pressure High

High blood pressure, pulse and body temperature readings were other medical concerns during the flight. A flight surgeon at the control center reported that "during all the flight we noted a wide variance in blood pressure readings. The last reading we had was 210 over 60 and this is too high."

1. A 15-second radio signal was received from medical sensors in the capsule after it had passed through the critical re-entry phase. The re-entry had cut off all communications, but the brief signal afterward told trackers the capsule had not burned up on re-entry. Receipt of the signal was not announced at the time, and the world was left hanging for sometime as to whether the spacecraft had made it through the heat barrier.

2. Too rapid consumption of hydrogen peroxide fuel may have been caused by a faulty gyroscope reference system. The gyros help align the capsule with the horizon and keep it in the proper attitude. If they are not working, the fuel-consuming control systems must labor overtime to maintain attitude.

3. A faulty reading indicated trouble with a hydraulic system on the Atlas rocket during the liftoff phase.

Despite the troubles, Mercury officials summed up the mission as highly successful.

Said Walter C. Williams, Mercury operations director: "Even though the mission and its aftermath were long, we now have the answers to some of the questions that we did not have before.

When Carpenter completes his debriefing on Grand Turk he is expected to return to Cape Canaveral Sunday for a reunion with his family and a news conference to tell his story of the flight.

State Tax Dept. Employe Missing

SALISBURY (AP) — State Police dragged the Wicomico River Friday without turning up any trace of William Howard Layfield, a missing state employe who is the brother of Sen. Mary Nock, D-Wicomico.

Members of the family said Sen. Nock hoped to cut short her vacation in Bermuda and fly home Friday night, a day earlier than planned.

Layfield, 51, had been missing since Thursday when seachers found his shoes and glasses near the river some five hours after he left Sen. Nock's summer home for a stroll. He had told the maid he wanted "to get some sunshine."

State Police said Layfield resides with Sen. Nock at Salisbury and had gone to the summer house at nearby Whitehaven for the day.

Layfield is an employe of the Maryland Tax Department.

Sailor Sentenced For Killing Preacher

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va. (AP) —A young South Carolina sailor was sentenced Friday to 5 to 18 years in the state penitentiary for the slaying of a 67-year-old minister.

Willard Eugene Graham, 19, of Patrick, S.C. pleaded guilty before Circuit Judge Charles L. Garvin to second degree murder in the death last summer of the Rev. Julius H. Keaton of Huntington, W.Va.

Judge Garvin said Graham should not be considered for parole until he had served 10 years.

State Police said Graham hitchhiked a ride with the Rev. Mr. Keaton and admitted beating him with a rock and leaving his body near the road.

Jacoby Is Top Bridge Player

NEW YORK (AP)—Oswald Jacoby has taken over the top spot in the master-point rating of champion bridge players, breaking Charles H. Goren's 17-year grip on the position, it was announced Friday.

Alvin Landy, executive secretary of the American Contract Bridge League, said the total number of master points, as of Friday stood at 6,530 for Jacoby to 6,510 for Goren.

Landy said the figures were official, though still to be confirmed by tabulating machines.

Navy Rescue Is Criticized For Leaving Scott Afloat

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A retired Air Force general said Friday astronaut Malcolm Scott Carpenter floated in his life raft for more than an hour longer than necessary because the Navy ordered an Air Rescue Service seaplane not to land.

Brig. Gen. Thomas J. Dubose of Winter Park, Fla., commander of the Air Rescue Service for six years prior to his retirment, said he had sent telegrams to Sens. George A. Smathers and Spessard L. Holland of Florida asking for an explanation of the Navy order.

Col T. P. Tatum, vice commander of the Air Rescue Service with headquarters in Orlando, confirmed that the SA16 amphibian had been directed not to land. He said a significant period of time had elapsed before helicopters from the carrier Intrepid arrived to pick up the astronaut.

Gen. Dubose said an hour and 20 minutes had elapsed.

About 20 minutes after Carpenter was spotted floating in a life-raft near his Aurora 7 spacecraft Thursday at the thrilling end of his world orbital mission an Air Rescue Service plane arrived at the scene.

Two paramedics, Staff Sgt. Ray E. McClure of Mt. Sterling, Ky., and Airman 1.C. John F. Heitsch of Madison, Wis., parachuted into the water to aid the astronaut.

A few minutes later the Air Rescue SA16 amphibian arrived but did not land, even though the water was calm. The astronaut and the paramedics were picked up by a helicopter from the Intrepid.

Rear Adm. John L. Chew told a news conference later the SA16 did not land because the paramedics had determined that Carpenter was in good condition. The decision was to stick to the planned routine of taking Carpenter to the Intrepid for the initial debriefing and then to Grand Turk Island.

Missing Plane Wreckage Found

COVINGTON, Va. (AP) — The wreckage of a light plane missing for two days was discovered Friday and searchers said the craft's two occupants died in the crash.

A search plane pin-pointed the remnants of the red and white Piper Colt in woods 200 yards off the northeast end of the ingalls field runway at Hot Springs. The 5,000-foot paved runway ends near a Warm Springs mountain cliff, which drops sharply.

Ground crews with cutting equipment were called to whack through the trees to the wreckage.

The plane disappeared Wednesday on a flight between Covington and Hot Springs. Its occupants were Cliff Startup, about 40, president of the Potter Equipment Co. of Washington, and John E. McGuffin, 59, owner of the McGuffin Equipment Co. of Covington.

Eddie Opens At Cocoanut Grove

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eddie Fisher opened at the Cocoanut Grove Thursday night, got an enthusiastic reception from a celebrity-packed audience, roses from estranged wife Elizabeth Taylor, and raspberry from a heckler.

The big bouquet of lavender roses came with a card signed simply "Elizabeth," to his dressing room. The singer wouldn't comment on them.

Plan State Display At Food Congress

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The first meeting to discuss Maryland's exhibit in the 5th International Food Congress in New York will be held here Monday.

George W. Hubley Jr., director of the Department of Economic Development, said Friday he would meet with J. T. Menzies Sr., chairman of the board of Crosse & Blackwell Co., and James W. Muckell, secretary of International Food Congress Inc. to discuss the state's exhibit.

The Board of Public Works recently approved an $8,000 appropriation to pay for display.

Atkinson Leads Oklahoma Race

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Election board tabulations Friday gave W. P. Atkinson, millionaire builder, a 449-vote victory over former Gov. Raymond Gary for the Democratic nomination for governor.

A recount of ballots probably will start Monday.

The board tabulation, completed when returns from the last two counties arrived, gave Atkinson 231,994 votes in Tuesday's runoff, and Gary 231,545.

French Troops Seal Off Air Port In Algiers

ALGIERS (AP) — French riot troops sealed off the Algiers Airport Friday to control a rush of thousands of Eruopeans fleeing current terrorism and the chaos they fear will come with independence.

Officials said no more refugees will be admitted to the airport until Sunday to facilitate an organized departure of some 4,500 persons already camped there.

Nineteen planes left during the day with 1,650 Europeans. Twenty-two aircraft were to leave Saturday.

Police backed by armor manned positions on the highway leading to the airport. Giant traffic bottlenecks were formed.

Agony hung over Algiers, where terrorist attacks of the European Secret Army Organization killed 24 Moslems and wounded 7.

Among the dead were three veiled Moslem women who had entered a European quarter to search garbage cans for food.

Fourteen Moslems were slain elsewhere in Algeria.

The bars were full of grim Europeans who were saying that the end was coming to their city.

State Tax Dept. Employe Missing

SALISBURY (AP) — State Police dragged the Wicomico River Friday without turning up any trace of William Howard Layfield, a missing state employe who is the brother of Sen. Mary Nock, D-Wicomico.

Members of the family said Sen. Nock hoped to cut short her vacation in Bermuda and fly home Friday night, a day earlier than planned.

Layfield, 51, had been missing since Thursday when seachers found his shoes and glasses near the river some five hours after he left Sen. Nock's summer home for a stroll. He had told the maid he wanted "to get some sunshine."

State Police said Layfield resides with Sen. Nock at Salisbury and had gone to the summer house at nearby Whitehaven for the day.

Layfield is an employe of the Maryland Tax Department.

Navy Rescue Is Criticized For Leaving Scott Afloat

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP —A retired Air Force genera said Friday astronaut Malcoln Scott Carpenter floated in his li raft for more than an hour longe than necessary because the Nav ordered an Air Rescue Servic seaplane not to land.

Brig. Gen. Thomas J. Dubos of Winter Park, Fla., commande of the Air Rescue Service for six years prior to his retirment, said he had sent telegrams to Sens. George A. Smathers and Spessard L. Holland of Florida asking for an explanation of the Navy order.

Col T. P. Tatum, vice commander of the Air Rescue Service with headquarters in Orlando, confirmed that the SA16 amphibian had been directed not to land. He said a significant period of time had elapsed before helicopters from the carrier Intrepid arrived to pick up the astronaut.

Gen. Dubose said an hour and 20 minutes had elapsed.

About 20 minutes after Carpen er was spotted floating in a life aft near his Aurora 7 spacecraft hursday at the thrilling end of is world orbital mission an Air escue Service plane arrived at he scene.

Two paramedics, Staff Sgt. Ray E. McClure of Mt. Sterling, Ky., and Airman 1.C. John F. Heitsch of Madison, Wis., parachuted into the water to aid the astronaut.

A few minutes later the Air Rescue SA16 amphibian arrived but did not land, even though the water was calm. The astronaut and the paramedics were picked up by a helicopter from the Intrepid.

Rear Adm. John L. Chew told a news conference later the SA16 did not land because the paramedics had determined that Carpenter was in good condition. The decision was to stick to the planned routine of taking Carpenter to the Intrepid for the initial debriefing and then to Grand Turk Island.

COVINGTON, Va. (AP) — The wreckage of a light plane missing for two days was discovered Friday and searchers said the craft's two occupants died in the crash.

Ground crews with cutting equipment were called to whack through the trees to the wreckage.

The plane disappeared Wednesday on a flight between Covington and Hot Springs. Its occupants were Cliff Startup, about 40, president of the Potter Equipment Co. of Washington, and John E. McGuffin, 59, owner of the McGuffin Equipment Co. of Covington.

French Troops Seal Off Air Port In Algiers

ALGIERS (AP) — French riot troops sealed off the Algiers Airport Friday to control a rush of thousands of Eruopeans fleeing current terrorism and the chaos they fear will come with independence.

Officials said no more refugees will be admitted to the airport until Sunday to facilitate an organized departure of some 4,500 persons already camped there.

Nineteen planes left during the day with 1,650 Europeans. Twenty-two aircraft were to leave Saturday.

Police backed by armor manned positions on the highway leading to the airport. Giant traffic bottlenecks were formed.

Agony hung over Algiers, where terrorist attacks of the European Secret Army Organization killed 24 Moslems and wounded 7.

Among the dead were three veiled Moslem women who had entered a European quarter to search garbage cans for food.

Fourteen Moslems were slain elsewhere in Algeria.

The bars were full of grim Europeans who were saying that the end was coming to their city.

Poppies to be offered to citizens of Cumberland were made by disabled veterans of the Baltimore VA Hospital.

Proceeds of the sale are used exclusively for rehabilitation and child welfare and 85 per cent will be retained by the local unit for use in this city assisting disabled veterans, their widows and children.

Headquarters for the sale, conducted by Fort Cumberland Unit 13, will be in the Legion home, Harrison Street. The headquarters will open at 8 a. m. today, Mrs. Vogel said. Representatives of the State Soil Conservation Committee, the U. S. Forest Service, Soil conservation Districts, Agricultural Stabilization Committee, the West Virginia University School of Forestry and Cooperative Extension Service attended the sessions along with Resources Director Warden M. Lane.

The group planned a tour of watershed development projects on the South Branch of the Potomac River, one area in which government currently is formulating plans for reservoir construction in an effort to insure adequate water supplies for the Washington, D. C., area through the year 2010.

The Army Engineers have scheduled public hearings at Petersburg May 29 and Martinsburg June 7 to hear discussion of 4 proposed reservoirs in the eastern area of West Virginia over the next 30-35 years.

Lane currently is studying the proposals and is expected to make known his recommendations in the near future. The engineers said the proposed reservoirs would be valuable to West Virginia both from the standpoint of flood control in the Potomac River basin and recreational value.

stitutional court telling an unconstitutional legislature to reapportion."

The Court of Appeals had directed Judge Duckett, who at first held he did not believe he had jurisdiction, to hear the reapportionment case.

Judge Duckett at first granted and then withdrew permission for four Shore Delegates to intervene as co-defendants in the suit. The refusal barred them from any appeal.

Del. Daniel B. Murray, D-Howard, and other committee members posed the question what the courts would do if the legislature refused flatly to revise House representation.

Royce Hanson, president of the Committee on Fair Representation, conceded the question has never been answered in other states where courts have disapproved apportionment.

Expects Approval

He surmised though that the Maryland Court of Appeals might declare the scheduled November elections for a new legislature void, or after the election reduce to fractions the votes of delegates in counties considered over-represented.

Even constitutionality of the new reapportionment program itself was questioned. Hanson conceded it might be viewed as discriminatory in its inital stage, but he was confident if challenged the courts would look at the entire plan and approve it.

The administration plan is to give four metropolitan counties and two of the Baltimore districts 19 more delegates during the next four years without reducing any. Starting in 1966, the same counties would receive the same number, but they would be taken away from other counties.

There would be an automatic review and adjustment according to population every 10 years. Counties which lag behind in population growth would face further decreases.

Delegates also questioned the proposed method to have party committee name the additional nominees for the November elections. Hanson and Attorney General Thomas B. Finan both said it had been decided not to hold a special election because of the cost.

School Board, Teachers Air Merit Raises

Members of the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association met Wednesday afternoon with the County Board of Education for a discussion of possible merit raises for exceptional teachers.

Mrs. Richard Winer, a member of the school board, submitted a report to the board at its April 17 meeting on a study of merit raises she has undertaken in the past year. After that report was submitted, it was decided to invite the legislative committee to hear the report and discuss it.

It was agreed at the Wednesday afternoon meeting that merit raises could not be granted unless there was agreement on the proposal on the part of the school board, the county commissioners and the teachers association.

Robert Thomas, a teacher at Bruce High School and new president of the Teachers Association, headed the group meeting with the school board. Others attending were Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School; Thomas M. Wagner, principal of Centre Street School; John D. Kelly, teacher at Beall High School; John E. Frank, Fort Hill High School teacher and immediate past president of the association, and James D. Preaskorn, Valley High School teacher.

Superintendent of School Ralph R. Webster said that Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer and Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools, also attended. Three other school board members besides Mrs. Winer attended. They included J. Goodloe Jackson, president; T. Donald Shires and Mrs. George M. Young. Kenneth R. Malcolm, the fifth board member, was absent.

The teachers' group agreed that this merit matter should be brought up when the association reconvenes in September or October.

Another Polling Place Sought In LaVale

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday instructed James G. Stevenson, board clerk, to request the Election Board to consider establishment of another polling place in District 29, LaVale.

Both Commissioners John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon said that the single polling place at the LaVale Fire Hall is inadequate based on their observation last primary day, May 15.

The commissioners feel that the election district can be split in two with an additional polling place in the general area of Parkside School or the Six Mile House section. This would provide a more efficient operation of the election day balloting come November 6, they pointed out.

Marilyn C. Miller, Barton, driver of the car, and Marvin Luther Miller, also of Barton, owner of the car, were defendants in the two suits.

The Green girl who sought $500 damages settled for $300 and the Stowell girl who sought $500 settled for $100.

Jack I. Mullen, Westernport attorney, represented the plaintiffs and G. William Gilchrist the defendants.

Killed in the accident was Barbara Kidwell, 17, of Westernport.

Assembly Clears

stitutional court telling an unconstitutional legislature to reapportion."

The Court of Appeals had directed Judge Duckett, who at first held he did not believe he had jurisdiction, to hear the reapportionment case.

Judge Duckett at first granted and then withdrew permission for four Shore Delegates to intervene as co-defendants in the suit. The refusal barred them from any appeal.

Del. Daniel B. Murray, D-Howard, and other committee members posed the question what the courts would do if the legislature refused flatly to revise House representation.

Royce Hanson, president of the Committee on Fair Representation, conceded the question has never been answered in other states where courts have disapproved apportionment.

Expects Approval

He surmised though that the Maryland Court of Appeals might declare the scheduled November elections for a new legislature void, or after the election reduce to fractions the votes of delegates in counties considered over-represented.

Even constitutionality of the new reapportionment program itself was questioned. Hanson conceded it might be viewed as discriminatory in its inital stage, but he was confident if challenged the courts would look at the entire plan and approve it.

The administration plan is to give four metropolitan counties and two of the Baltimore districts 19 more delegates during the next four years without reducing any. Starting in 1966, the same counties would receive the same number, but they would be taken away from other counties.

There would be an automatic review and adjustment according to population every 10 years. Counties which lag behind in population growth would face further decreases.

Delegates also questioned the proposed method to have party committee name the additional nominees for the November elections. Hanson and Attorney General Thomas B. Finan both said it had been decided not to hold a special election because of the cost.

School Board, Teachers Air Merit Raises

Members of the legislative committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association met Wednesday afternoon with the County Board of Education for a discussion of possible merit raises for exceptional teachers.

Mrs. Richard Winer, a member of the school board, submitted a report to the board at its April 17 meeting on a study of merit raises she has undertaken in the past year. After that report was submitted, it was decided to invite the legislative committee to hear the report and discuss it.

It was agreed at the Wednesday afternoon meeting that merit raises could not be granted unless there was agreement on the proposal on the part of the school board, the county commissioners and the teachers association.

Robert Thomas, a teacher at Bruce High School and new president of the Teachers Association, headed the group meeting with the school board. Others attending were Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany High School; Thomas M. Wagner, principal of Centre Street School; John D. Kelly, teacher at Beall High School; John E. Frank, Fort Hill High School teacher and immediate past president of the association, and James D. Preaskorn, Valley High School teacher.

Superintendent of School Ralph R. Webster said that Assistant Superintendent Richard T. Rizer and Jack A. Petry, supervisor of high schools, also attended. Three other school board members besides Mrs. Winer attended. They included J. Goodloe Jackson, president; T. Donald Shires and Mrs. George M. Young. Kenneth R. Malcolm, the fifth board member, was absent.

The teachers' group agreed that this merit matter should be brought up when the association reconvenes in September or October.

Another Polling Place Sought In LaVale

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday instructed James G. Stevenson, board clerk, to request the Election Board to consider establishment of another polling place in District 29, LaVale.

Both Commissioners John J. Rowan and Louis V. Shinnamon said that the single polling place at the LaVale Fire Hall is inadequate based on their observation last primary day, May 15.

The commissioners feel that the election district can be split in two with an additional polling place in the general area of Parkside School or the Six Mile House section. This would provide a more efficient operation of the election day balloting come November 6, they pointed out.

Friendly Suits Settled Here

Marilyn C. Miller, Barton, driver of the car, and Marvin Luther Miller, also of Barton, owner of the car, were defendants in the two suits.

The Green girl who sought $500 damages settled for $300 and the Stowell girl who sought $500 settled for $100.

Jack I. Mullen, Westernport attorney, represented the plaintiffs and G. William Gilchrist the defendants.

Killed in the accident was Barbara Kidwell, 17, of Westernport.

Dr. Means travels extensively in South America and is directly responsible for the more than 600 missionaries representing Southern Baptists on that continent.

Secrets Of Charm

Bust-Developing Exercises

If bust development is your aim, you are one who must be doubly particular about following instructions — and here they are:

1. School yourself to perform very slowly and deliberately all exercises prescribed. Speed and vigor only defeat your purpose.

2. If your weight is under par, combine your exercises with a gaining diet.

3. Be persistent. You won't see appreciable results for a month and not then, if you skip one day!

4. Participation in an active sport will speed results. Swimming, using the breast stroke, pulls into play the very muscles you are trying to strengthen and increase. So does archery.

The most effective exercise follows: Cross your wrists and grasp the upper side of your forearms midway between the elbows and the wrists. Now raise your arms to shoulder level. Grip hard and push your hands toward your elbows. (Don't let your hands slide upward!) Hold for a count of five, release your grip, and repeat.

If you perform this exercise properly you will feel a very definite pull in your chest muscles. Try to strengthen this pull every time you do the exercise. Twenty times a day is enough for a start. Increase gradually to seventy-five times daily.

Your improvement will be well worth the effort!

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: In this day and age when divorced people are so busy back-biting and competing for the affection of their children I'd like to say a word about one divorced woman who did it the other way. My mother.

Dad left her to marry another woman. We were very young at the time and didn't know what the word divorce meant. All we knew was that Daddy didn't live at home anymore. We never heard one word against him. "He is a fine person," mother would tell us. "You must always love and respect him."

Through our growing-up years Mother bought little gifts and cards for us to send to Dad. She dressed us in our very best, put ribbons in our hair and checked our fingernails before Dad came to get us for the evening. When he was ill she arranged for us to visit him.

When I married I walked down the aisle on my father's arm. Mother was gracious and charming to his other family. They had the good judgment to stay well in the background.

This is the way one set of "divorced children" grew up — without hostility, without conflict, without anxiety. And all because our mother was a lady.—CONTENT

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 20-year-old girl who quit school at 15 to go live with a nice family. Although I help with the housework and care for the young children, I've never considered myself a cleaning girl or nursemaid. I feel more like a member of the family.

Last night I invited my boy friend over after the folks had left for the evening. This was against the rules but I was lonesome.

The people came home at 3:00 a. m. and Barry and I were asleep. He was on the floor in front of the TV and I was on the sofa. We are both heavy sleepers and the folks had to bang on the door a long time to get us up because I had bolted the latch from the inside.

They were very cross with me and I deserved the tongue-lashing I got. Now I feel uncomfortable around them and have considered quitting and taking a job elsewhere. Yet I hate to leave because I'm very fond of these people and this has been my home for five years.—3:00 A. M.

Dear 3:00 A. M.: The fact that you were not sent packing is evidence that these people are genuinely interested in you.

Stay where you are and improve your behavior. In time you'll overcome your feelings of discomfort. Running away would solve nothing. You'd merely take your guilt with you.

Dear Ann Landers: Does the only sister of the groom have a right to be an attendant at the wedding? My son was married recently and the bride's whole family was in the wedding party. Her only sister was too young to be a bridesmaid, so she was an overgrown flower girl.

My son's brother was his best man, but his sister and her husband were ignored. Several people have asked me why and I have no answer.

There seem to be no hard feelings in the family. My son and his bride have already visited my daughter and her husband and they get along fine. May I have your comment, please? — ROANOKE

Dear Roanoke: I have no comment and if you're smart you'll have no comment either.

It would have been nice had the groom's only sister been asked to be the matron of hohor, since married women should not be asked to be bridesmaids.

She was not asked, however, and the wedding is over, so I suggest you forget it. Digging up a buried bone of this kind only makes you sound like a trouble-maker.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Bust-Developing Exercises

If bust development is your aim, you are one who must be doubly particular about following instructions — and here they are:

1. School yourself to perform very slowly and deliberately all exercises prescribed. Speed and vigor only defeat your purpose.

2. If your weight is under par, combine your exercises with a gaining diet.

3. Be persistent. You won't see appreciable results for a month and not then, if you skip one day!

4. Participation in an active sport will speed results. Swimming, using the breast stroke, pulls into play the very muscles you are trying to strengthen and increase. So does archery.

The most effective exercise follows: Cross your wrists and grasp the upper side of your forearms midway between the elbows and the wrists. Now raise your arms to shoulder level. Grip hard and push your hands toward your elbows. (Don't let your hands slide upward!) Hold for a count of five, release your grip, and repeat.

If you perform this exercise properly you will feel a very definite pull in your chest muscles. Try to strengthen this pull every time you do the exercise. Twenty times a day is enough for a start. Increase gradually to seventy-five times daily.

Your improvement will be well worth the effort!

DAD'S GRADUATION

It wasn't Dad who burned the midnight oil . . . or crammed for exams . . . or struggled with term papers . . . or won a letter in baseball . . . or a prize in home economics.

Dad just wrote the checks . . . and the encouraging letters . . . and boasted to the office force about his "kids" in school.

But this is really Dad's graduation. For he planned this day many years ago. And all these years he has struggled to give his boy and girl the kind of an education he never had.

Something else he has given them—something he did have; a sound Christian faith, manifested in loyal devotion to his Church's worship and work.

Better than a diploma is Dad's reward today; the reverent, joyous certainty that, not only in their education, but equally in their spiritual development, he has recognized the needs of his children . . . and has seen them through.

Are you planning your children's future—every Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

DAD'S GRADUATION

It wasn't Dad who burned the midnight oil . . . or crammed for exams . . . or struggled with term papers . . . or won a letter in baseball . . . or a prize in home economics.

Dad just wrote the checks . . . and the encouraging letters . . . and boasted to the office force about his "kids" in school.

But this is really Dad's graduation. For he planned this day many years ago. And all these years he has struggled to give his boy and girl the kind of an education he never had.

Something else he has given them—something he did have; a sound Christian faith, manifested in loyal devotion to his Church's worship and work.

Better than a diploma is Dad's reward today; the reverent, joyous certainty that, not only in their education, but equally in their spiritual development, he has recognized the needs of his children . . . and has seen them through.

Are you planning your children's future—every Sunday?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Growing Monstrosity Of Farm Control

Congress created the system under which the evils which made possible the Billie Sol Estes case sprouted. Members from basically non-agricultural areas lift the only voices against the support program.

But they stand accused of perpetuating evils by insisting on allotment exemptions which aid materially in making the program a monstrosity. The administration would continue price supports but use them as a club to force production quotas with no freedom of choice left to producers.

There has been something wrong with artificial attempts to juggle farm economics since the Supreme Court killed the first Agricultural Adjustment Act in 1933. Most evils have been compounded.

To say increased war production needs require federal stimulus is debatable. Farmers are patriotic, too. A larger market itself should be enough incentive. But politicians thought they had a good thing and refused to cut back before the system was cemented into the economic structure.

Time after time responsible segments of American agriculture have advocated a return to a free agricultural economy. A smaller but politically vocal group, unable to see beyond the next crop season, has demanded a cushion that penalizes good management and better practices.

By the inclusion of harvested feed grains in the program for the first time and by prohibiting winter grazing of green feed grains, the administration is trying to force the livestock industry under federal control. Livestock men have held out against any and all controls.

Energetic Vivien

Miss Vivien Kellems is a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator in the politically confused state of Connecticut. She offers herself to succeed Senator Prescott Bush, who is retiring at the end of his present term.

Vivien Kellems is a vivacious business woman who has done remarkably well for herself. She gained national fame by refusing to collect the withholding tax, unless she was paid to do it by the government. Her argument was a good New England one, that the laborer is worthy of his hire and that as she was not hired to be a tax-collector, she would not be one. She had a whale of a time with the Treasury which was not prepared for Miss Kellems' intelligence or experience.

She recently sold her business. After 35 years of experience, she is convinced that the small businessman, in this country, faces extinction not only because of high taxes but also because of the expensive method of preparing for taxes. This also affects the self-employed. The burden of satisfying the tax-collector is beyond the ability of many to pay.

It is from the small businessman and the self-employed that some of the best ideas in industry come. The only hope for such persons today is to try to build up a sufficient business so that it might be acquired either by a growth company or by one of the larger organizations. Acquisitions have become increasingly numerous, the small businessman and the self-employed accepting stock in the larger company and thus establishing an estate for his family after he dies.

It is not to be said that acquisitions are not beneficial to the individuals concerned. What is important is that smaller businesses go out of existence; that the self-employed become lost in great corporations; that initiative is often lost in corporate bureaucracy.

Miss Kellems, if nominated and elected to the Senate, would bring that body the experience of the small manufacturer whose business has gone through this process. She issued a statement:

"Equally important with small business is the forgotten man; the thousands of decent, hard-working, self-respecting men and women who work every day and who find at the end of the week, a pay check from which 20% has already been deducted, and the remaining few dollars so shrunken in value that they will barely stretch to pay the rent, or the mortgage on the house, the installment on the car, clothes for the children and food for the family. Someone must go to Washington to speak for these people living in constant fear of disaster in this daily hand-to-mouth struggle."

The automobile industry, for instance, has now come close to having only two major companies. Even if one calls it four major companies, it means that the high cost of sales and the financing of new models has driven from business too large a number of companies. It is often suggested that General Motors provides the managerial personnel for its competitors; at any rate, that has happened to the Ford Company since its founder died.

In the manufacture of electrical supplies and electronics, the process is similar to what it was in the early days of the automobile. Large numbers of companies and individuals are entering this field and are doing remarkably well through initiative and inventiveness. But the cost of administration, including taxes, and the cost of finding a market for the products is becoming so costly that the joining of forces becomes inevitable.

Then come the lawyers who warn against the perils of the anti-trust and anti-cartel laws. To reduce costs, it is often necessary to form what in effect are holding companies, producing and marketing diverse and unrelated products to keep plants working all the time and to cut down the cost of administrative expenses per unit.

In European countries and Japan, this problem has been solved by encouraging the cartel, which is a government authorized trust. Often governments participate in such trusts which are regarded as national institutions. They are often encouraged by the Treasury of their country to dump goods in countries whose exchange is needed. Tax relief is offered under such circumstances. Often such companies are protected against imports.

There is room in the United States Senate for Miss Vivien Kellems whose specialized knowledge would be of great value.

Republicans Unhappy About New Trend Of Billie Sol Estes Probe

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—It's a lot more complicated than the $250 suits Billie Sol Estes bought for agriculture officials at Neiman-Marcus, but one of the most important leads in the Texas-Agriculture Department scandal goes to the doorstep of a very respectable New York chemical firm—Commercial Solvents.

Republican Senators aren't too happy about this trend in the Billie Sol Estes investigation, because two Commercial Solvents directors are former bureaucrats in the Eisenhower administration—Walter C. Berger and James A. McConnell.

They were in charge of the Commodity Credit Corporation under Eisenhower, and Berger was chiefly in charge when most of the government grain on which Estes made his money was sent to Estes' grain elevators. Estes stored a total of 33,000,000 bushels of grain, of which 21,000,000 bushels was awarded him under Ike.

Then the company, one of whose directors, Walter Berger, had given Estes profitable grain storage contracts, turned round and took Estes' government grain rental checks. These checks totaled more than $7,000,000 in three years. In return for these checks, Commercial Solvents shipped Estes liquid fertilizer which he sold at such low prices that he put 75 small fertilizer companies out of business.

Berger's Background

During the period that Berger was executive vice chairman of the Commodity Credit Corporation under Ike, 1956-60, and director of the Commodity Stabilization Service, this column reported that he might be guilty of a conflict of interest. For Berger owned stock in the Shea Chemical Corportion of Baltimore which sold fertilizer to the Agriculture Department.

Other officials under Eisenhower—notably, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson—disposed of stock in their companies when they entered government. But Berger, at the time, admitted to my associate Jack Anderson that he had kept his stock. He also admitted that Shea Chemical had done business with the Agriculture Department. "I have done nothing wrong," he said.

Berger was also reported as favoring a huge windfall for the big soap and margarine manufacturers whereby 4,000,000 pounds of surplus vegetable oils, held by Commodity Credit, would be sold at three cents a pound under market prices, thereby giving the soap and margarine manufacturers a tremendous saving while depressing the price of butter paid to farmers.

Note — Commercial Solvents, the company which is so heavily involved with Billie Sol Estes, has a gilt-edged list of directors, including Jeremiah Milbank Jr., director of the Chase Manhattan Bank; Austin Igleheart, director of both Chase Manhattan and General Foods; and Monroe C. Gutman, chairman of the Lehman Corporation executive committee. These are big Wall Street Republicans who apparently didn't know any more about the meteoric finagler from Texas than did Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Daddy Of Educational TV

When President Kennedy the law providing for federal subsidies for educational television the other day, Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.), author of the bill, remarked:

"Mr. President, you voted for this bill twice when you were in the Senate. Now you're making it law.

"There's one guy who isn't here who really deserves credit for this bill," Magnuson added, "and that is Lyndon Johnson."

Magnuson referred to the fact that six years ago, Leonard Marks, an attorney formerly with the Federal Communications Commission, had come to Johnson, then a Senator, and urged him to help provide the nation with educational TV. Working with Magnuson, Senator Johnson then put a TV bill through the Senate—only to have it blocked in the House.

This year Magnuson pushed it again. It passed the House, became law, and was signed by the President. After the signature, Kennedy handed the pen to Magnuson, who, however, handed it to private attorney Marks.

"You're the real father of educational TV," he said.

Headlines And Footnotes

The Congressman who will probably run high man in Alabama's free-for-all, statewide congressional race is Albert Rains, author of the Kennedy housing bill. Rains outmaneuvered the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition so successfully in passing last year's housing bill that Rep. Howard Smith, the Virginia Dixiecrat, congratulated him. "Albert," he said, "I'll have to admit that you outgunned me. I didn't think you could do it." . . . Earle Cocke Jr., former commander of the American Legion, is the man who masterminded Senate support for the $100,000,000 UN bond issue . . . Ambassador Jerry Wadsworth, Eisenhower's expert envoy to the United Nations, has sent a copy of his new important book, "The Price of Peace," to Premier Khrushchev with this inscription: "To Chairman Nikita Khrushchev, in the hope that some day the situation of true understanding may obtain." Wadsworth, a 6-ft., 6-inch diplomat, is the man whom Khrushchev playfully hugged during UN talks in New York.

Networks Deny AMA 'Equal Time' Privilege

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The American people want fair play — they like to get both sides of controversial questions. Did the television people make a mistake when the three principal networks — after giving free time to a speech by President Kennedy in which he attacked the American Medical Association's position on "medical care for the aged" — refused to let the people hear the other side unless the AMA paid for it?

One large station in Boston even declined to broadcast the American Medical Association's reply to the President, although payment was offered through the network for the use of the station's facilities. The explanation given was that the station doesn't sell time to organizations for the discussion of controversial subjects. The President's speech from Madison Square Garden, however, not only was controversial but it attacked the American Medical Association specifically. Hence, the right of reply was ignored by a station which is heard by a large segment of the population in the President's home state of Massachusetts.

Shouldn't all the networks have made some provision for free time so that the American Medical Association could make its rebuttal of the President's charge that it was misinforming the public? This question goes to the heart of the issue of fair play over the country's communications systems.

For, while the government should not in any way influence the decisions of the television companies, the public will begin to believe that fear of losing their licenses motivates the broadcasters when they all join in giving a President full time without charge and refuse to give similar facilities to the organizations which he attacks.

The television stations have every right to broadcast what they please — even a one-sided presentation. There is no law which compels any branch of the press to present anything that the editor or director of a station or a publication may choose to reject. Government control or influence over broadcasting media or the newspapers is a violation of the principles of a free press under the Constitution.

So the responsibility for the presentation of the "other side" rests on the broadcasting stations or the newspapers, as the case may be. Public opinion is the only available form of protest against a refusal to give "both sides."

The American Medical Association was lambasted by the President of the United States over three networks embracing a big percentage of their 425 stations. When the request for equal time was refused, the American Medical Association spent from $75,000 to $100,000 to get time for its own speaker, Dr. Edward R. Annis, on one network of about 190 stations.

But even this privilege of reply would be restricted if some members of Congress had their way. One of them already threatens to introduce a bill prohibiting the American Medical Association from using for "Congressional Lobbying" the dues collected from doctors who are members of the organization. This is a move in the wrong direction. For someday a tough-minded Congress might decide to prohibit labor unions from using their dues in certain political campaigns and also to prevent officers of labor unions from making speeches in political campaigns or from conducting mail campaigns on public issues.

Every President of the United States has a tactical advantage over his political adversaries because the radio and television networks, as well as the printed media, give him space for almost every pronouncement he makes to the public. Yet during political campaigns there is a tendency to draw a line and require that political broadcasts be paid for. Mr. Kennedy last Saturday night made another speech in Madison Square Garden — at a fund-raising affair — in which he announced, in effect, that the Congressional campaign of 1962 has already begun. He spoke of the coming Congressional election and appealed for the support of his audience.

The law covering broadcasts of a political nature requires that "equal time" be given to opposing candidates. But who is the opponent of a President? He isn't running for Congress this year. Yet he is in a position to help elect a party majority. The opposition gets a chance now and then to express itself, but in the past two weeks former President Eisenhower has had two news conferences—one with a group of Republicans in Gettysburg and one in Washington after a meeting with Republican leaders in Congress, at both of which he talked on current issues, including Mr. Kennedy's attacks on his Administration. Not one of the three principal networks gave him a half-hour in which to present the "other side." Only the newspapers printed this.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

SAM'S SISTER — Mrs. S. E. Bartley, of Bonham, Tex., one of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn's sisters, was in Washington recently and paid a visit to the Capitol. The present speaker, John McCormack, escorted her to Rayburn's old desk in an ornate Capitol office room, gathered reporters and told her that the press conference was hers.

Now 81, Mrs. Bartley conducted herself with surprising ease and assurance. She informed newsmen that the ranch on which Rayburn once ran his prize cattle had been sold, but that the cabin he had built there will be moved to a site near the Rayburn Library in Bonham as a part of the shrine in his memory.

The Sam Rayburn Foundation, she reported, is working on a project to carry out one of the late speaker's last wishes — to turn the farm he owned at Bonham into a demonstration project for young farmers.

Throughout his many years in Washington, Rayburn never let his ties with his Bonham home lapse, nor did he ever forget the pioneering farmer stock from which he sprang.

PUBLICITY — A witness before the Securities Exchange Commission was being interrogated about an expensive public relations campaign that a New York City brokerage house had entered into in an effort to popularize the sale of certain investment fund stocks.

A high-powered public relations firm was retained at $3,000 a month, plus expenses. One of its accomplishments had been the insertion of an article about satisfied investment plan holders in a national magazine, and the resulting purchase of some 9,000 extra copies by an association of investment companies for circulation among national "opinion leaders."

Copies were mailed to all members of the Senate and House, some 2,000 college presidents, numerous heads of women's organizations, and others in similar categories. The witness, obviously thinking of the high cost of favorable publicity, wryly ended his testimony by remarking, "We got exactly two 'thank you' letters."

The SEC official presiding at the hearing couldn't refrain from asking, "Did the replies come from college presidents or women's clubs?"

Strange Progression

By John Crosby

I was talking to a doctor I know the other day, not altogether about the King-Anderson bill. He's a sensible and, above all, humane individual and he is in favor of the bill as a rational solution to a growing social problem—the increasing number of old people and the increasing cost of medical care. I said: "You don't sound like the American Medical Association. In fact, I don't think I've ever met a doctor whose views approximated those of the AMA. Who does the AMA represent?"

The doctor said quickly: "I think the AMA has done a damn good job in its professional capacity. But it's far to the right of me in its social attitudes." He added sadly: "The image of the doctor as a human being is being damaged in this business."

It certainly is. I suppose there are some bloodthirsty doctors—although I never met one—but most of them are decent, humane, kindly individuals or they wouldn't have been drawn to the profession of healing the sick. But you'd never guess that the profession of medicine is essentially a humane undertaking from listening to the AMA, whose public statements are as unyieldingly reactionary as those of the National Association of Manufacturers.

And, when you come right down to it, I don't think the NAM fairly represents its members either. And I don't think Jimmy Hoffa represents the Teamsters either. This whole business of professional representation bothers me. Speaking as a born rank-and-filer from way back, I have come to certain broad general conclusions about representation by others.

Conclusion No. 1: The newer the organization is, the closer it is to its members' wishes, the more understanding it is of their problems, and the more human it is. The older the organization—and the richer it gets—the farther it gets from all of those things. As it gets farther from the members, it gets closer in temperament—if not in publicly expressed positions—to the management or the government or whatever it is supposed to be the opposite number to. The ultimate in this progression from representing the workers to its opposite is John L. Lewis, whose United Mine Workers now seems to be far more interested in the coal business (in which the UMW is deeply implicated) than in the welfare of the workers who are (with full UMW approval) rapidly being replaced by automation.

I know of no organization that this rule applies to more than the AMA. It's old. It's rich. And I simply do not believe that it is at all representative of its membership, not only on this matter but in many others. Perhaps an even clearer example of this divergence of the AMA with its own membership is the question of social security for doctors. Physicians are not covered by Social Security and the AMA flatly opposes their coverage on the grounds that it would be the "entering wedge." (Entering wedge to what, you ask, junior? To socialism, of course. Like the Post Office and the public schools. Entering wedges both of 'em, dammit, and the country's never recovered.)

A good many polls and samplings have indicated that most physicians would like to be covered by Social Security. The way to settle this would be a nationwide poll of doctors, but the AMA has done everything in its very considerable power to frustrate this. The AMA doesn't want to be shown to be so grievously at odds with its own members.

In fact, the suspicion exists that the permanent professional hierarchy, which runs the AMA, feels that it knows what's good for the doctors much more than the doctors know what's good for themselves. There again, the AMA is not alone in this matter. Professional organizations traditionally hate to ask the consent of the governed or to see their advice or sometimes even to find out what they want.

Cause Of Chronic Bronchitis Often Overlooked

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The individual with chronic bronchitis usually coughs at least three months of the year. There are periods when the lungs are better and hacking is confined to cleaning out the bronchi in the morning and a few times during the day.

But coughing recurs, especially when the victim catches cold. Hacking and expectorating last several weeks and often are blamed on a persistent respiratory infection. "I just can't shake this cold" is a common expression.

This is understandable because the true cause is overlooked. When bronchitis stems from allergy or too much smoking, hacking is more persistent and is likely to get worse unless the offenders are eliminated. In time, the periods of coughing get longer and longer and the periods of improvement shorter and shorter. The individual ultimately develops complications such as emphysema and shortness of breath.

This sequence is not mentioned to frighten anyone but to predict what is in store for the increasing number of people with chronic bronchitis. We refer to those who refuse to do anything about the causative factors. Those willing to co-operate can be helped.

A team of Baltimore physicians treated 32 bronchitics with one of the tetracycline drugs for periods of three months. During this time there was less cough, sputum, and shortness of breath. In addition, there were fewer recurrences of new respiratory infections of the type causing a return of chronic coughing. This type of drug may have its greatest usefulness for these individuals when taken at the first sign of a cold.

More than an antibiotic is needed to relieve cough permanently. This is true for the heavy smoker, the alcoholic, and for those exposed to industrial dusts and gases. The sensitive person also must eliminate offending allergens. Additional relief may be obtained from other cough remedies such as drugs that dilate the bronchi and liquefy the sputum.

TURNED IN TOES

Mrs. B. writes: If a 1 month old baby's toes turn in, is this pigeon toe? Does he need a brace? Will vitamins help? Is this rickets? Will lying on the stomach help? Does he need an orthopedist? Is this due to bad diet during pregnancy?

REPLY

The answer to your question is a series of No's. So long as the baby's feet and toes are flexible and can be straightened out with the hands, there is no need to worry. Should this condition continue much longer, bring it to your physician's attention.

ARTHRITIC POPULATION

M. B. writes: Does nearly everybody get arthritis as they grow older?

REPLY

Yes. More than 90 per cent of those over 40 have some evidence of degenerative joint changes. But only 5 to 10 per cent have symptoms of arthritis.

SCIATIC PAIN

J. A. T. writes: Is sciatica a nerve or a muscle ailment?

REPLY

Sciatica refers to pain along the sciatic nerve, which usually is felt at the back of the thigh. Pressure on the nerve in the lower part of the spine usually is responsible.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Meredith considered this information judiciously, then announced, "The new principal in our school is sure one big old plaza!"

These are big Wall Street Republicans who apparently didn't know any more about the meteoric finagler from Texas than did Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman.

Daddy Of Educational TV

When President Kennedy the law providing for federal subsidies for educational television the other day, Sen. Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.), author of the bill, remarked:

"Mr. President, you voted for this bill twice when you were in the Senate. Now you're making it law.

"There's one guy who isn't here who really deserves credit for this bill," Magnuson added, "and that is Lyndon Johnson."

Magnuson referred to the fact that six years ago, Leonard Marks, an attorney formerly with the Federal Communications Commission, had come to Johnson, then a Senator, and urged him to help provide the nation with educational TV. Working with Magnuson, Senator Johnson then put a TV bill through the Senate—only to have it blocked in the House.

This year Magnuson pushed it again. It passed the House, became law, and was signed by the President. After the signature, Kennedy handed the pen to Magnuson, who, however, handed it to private attorney Marks.

"You're the real father of educational TV," he said.

Headlines And Footnotes

The Congressman who will probably run high man in Alabama's free-for-all, statewide congressional race is Albert Rains, author of the Kennedy housing bill. Rains outmaneuvered the Republican-Dixiecrat coalition so successfully in passing last year's housing bill that Rep. Howard Smith, the Virginia Dixiecrat, congratulated him. "Albert," he said, "I'll have to admit that you outgunned me. I didn't think you could do it." . . . Earle Cocke Jr., former commander of the American Legion, is the man who masterminded Senate support for the $100,000,000 UN bond issue . . . Ambassador Jerry Wadsworth, Eisenhower's expert envoy to the United Nations, has sent a copy of his new important book, "The Price of Peace," to Premier Khrushchev with this inscription: "To Chairman Nikita Khrushchev, in the hope that some day the situation of true understanding may obtain." Wadsworth, a 6-ft., 6-inch diplomat, is the man whom Khrushchev playfully hugged during UN talks in New York.

Networks Deny AMA 'Equal Time' Privilege

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The American people want fair play — they like to get both sides of controversial questions. Did the television people make a mistake when the three principal networks — after giving free time to a speech by President Kennedy in which he attacked the American Medical Association's position on "medical care for the aged" — refused to let the people hear the other side unless the AMA paid for it?

One large station in Boston even declined to broadcast the American Medical Association's reply to the President, although payment was offered through the network for the use of the station's facilities. The explanation given was that the station doesn't sell time to organizations for the discussion of controversial subjects. The President's speech from Madison Square Garden, however, not only was controversial but it attacked the American Medical Association specifically. Hence, the right of reply was ignored by a station which is heard by a large segment of the population in the President's home state of Massachusetts.

Shouldn't all the networks have made some provision for free time so that the American Medical Association could make its rebuttal of the President's charge that it was misinforming the public? This question goes to the heart of the issue of fair play over the country's communications systems.

For, while the government should not in any way influence the decisions of the television companies, the public will begin to believe that fear of losing their licenses motivates the broadcasters when they all join in giving a President full time without charge and refuse to give similar facilities to the organizations which he attacks.

The television stations have every right to broadcast what they please — even a one-sided presentation. There is no law which compels any branch of the press to present anything that the editor or director of a station or a publication may choose to reject. Government control or influence over broadcasting media or the newspapers is a violation of the principles of a free press under the Constitution.

So the responsibility for the presentation of the "other side" rests on the broadcasting stations or the newspapers, as the case may be. Public opinion is the only available form of protest against a refusal to give "both sides."

The American Medical Association was lambasted by the President of the United States over three networks embracing a big percentage of their 425 stations. When the request for equal time was refused, the American Medical Association spent from $75,000 to $100,000 to get time for its own speaker, Dr. Edward R. Annis, on one network of about 190 stations.

But even this privilege of reply would be restricted if some members of Congress had their way. One of them already threatens to introduce a bill prohibiting the American Medical Association from using for "Congressional Lobbying" the dues collected from doctors who are members of the organization. This is a move in the wrong direction. For someday a tough-minded Congress might decide to prohibit labor unions from using their dues in certain political campaigns and also to prevent officers of labor unions from making speeches in political campaigns or from conducting mail campaigns on public issues.

Every President of the United States has a tactical advantage over his political adversaries because the radio and television networks, as well as the printed media, give him space for almost every pronouncement he makes to the public. Yet during political campaigns there is a tendency to draw a line and require that political broadcasts be paid for. Mr. Kennedy last Saturday night made another speech in Madison Square Garden — at a fund-raising affair — in which he announced, in effect, that the Congressional campaign of 1962 has already begun. He spoke of the coming Congressional election and appealed for the support of his audience.

The law covering broadcasts of a political nature requires that "equal time" be given to opposing candidates. But who is the opponent of a President? He isn't running for Congress this year. Yet he is in a position to help elect a party majority. The opposition gets a chance now and then to express itself, but in the past two weeks former President Eisenhower has had two news conferences—one with a group of Republicans in Gettysburg and one in Washington after a meeting with Republican leaders in Congress, at both of which he talked on current issues, including Mr. Kennedy's attacks on his Administration. Not one of the three principal networks gave him a half-hour in which to present the "other side." Only the newspapers printed this.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

SAM'S SISTER — Mrs. S. E. Bartley, of Bonham, Tex., one of the late Speaker Sam Rayburn's sisters, was in Washington recently and paid a visit to the Capitol. The present speaker, John McCormack, escorted her to Rayburn's old desk in an ornate Capitol office room, gathered reporters and told her that the press conference was hers.

Now 81, Mrs. Bartley conducted herself with surprising ease and assurance. She informed newsmen that the ranch on which Rayburn once ran his prize cattle had been sold, but that the cabin he had built there will be moved to a site near the Rayburn Library in Bonham as a part of the shrine in his memory.

The Sam Rayburn Foundation, she reported, is working on a project to carry out one of the late speaker's last wishes — to turn the farm he owned at Bonham into a demonstration project for young farmers.

Throughout his many years in Washington, Rayburn never let his ties with his Bonham home lapse, nor did he ever forget the pioneering farmer stock from which he sprang.

PUBLICITY — A witness before the Securities Exchange Commission was being interrogated about an expensive public relations campaign that a New York City brokerage house had entered into in an effort to popularize the sale of certain investment fund stocks.

A high-powered public relations firm was retained at $3,000 a month, plus expenses. One of its accomplishments had been the insertion of an article about satisfied investment plan holders in a national magazine, and the resulting purchase of some 9,000 extra copies by an association of investment companies for circulation among national "opinion leaders."

Copies were mailed to all members of the Senate and House, some 2,000 college presidents, numerous heads of women's organizations, and others in similar categories. The witness, obviously thinking of the high cost of favorable publicity, wryly ended his testimony by remarking, "We got exactly two 'thank you' letters."

The SEC official presiding at the hearing couldn't refrain from asking, "Did the replies come from college presidents or women's clubs?"

Strange Progression

By John Crosby

I was talking to a doctor I know the other day, not altogether about the King-Anderson bill. He's a sensible and, above all, humane individual and he is in favor of the bill as a rational solution to a growing social problem—the increasing number of old people and the increasing cost of medical care. I said: "You don't sound like the American Medical Association. In fact, I don't think I've ever met a doctor whose views approximated those of the AMA. Who does the AMA represent?"

The doctor said quickly: "I think the AMA has done a damn good job in its professional capacity. But it's far to the right of me in its social attitudes." He added sadly: "The image of the doctor as a human being is being damaged in this business."

It certainly is. I suppose there are some bloodthirsty doctors—although I never met one—but most of them are decent, humane, kindly individuals or they wouldn't have been drawn to the profession of healing the sick. But you'd never guess that the profession of medicine is essentially a humane undertaking from listening to the AMA, whose public statements are as unyieldingly reactionary as those of the National Association of Manufacturers.

And, when you come right down to it, I don't think the NAM fairly represents its members either. And I don't think Jimmy Hoffa represents the Teamsters either. This whole business of professional representation bothers me. Speaking as a born rank-and-filer from way back, I have come to certain broad general conclusions about representation by others.

Conclusion No. 1: The newer the organization is, the closer it is to its members' wishes, the more understanding it is of their problems, and the more human it is. The older the organization—and the richer it gets—the farther it gets from all of those things. As it gets farther from the members, it gets closer in temperament—if not in publicly expressed positions—to the management or the government or whatever it is supposed to be the opposite number to. The ultimate in this progression from representing the workers to its opposite is John L. Lewis, whose United Mine Workers now seems to be far more interested in the coal business (in which the UMW is deeply implicated) than in the welfare of the workers who are (with full UMW approval) rapidly being replaced by automation.

I know of no organization that this rule applies to more than the AMA. It's old. It's rich. And I simply do not believe that it is at all representative of its membership, not only on this matter but in many others. Perhaps an even clearer example of this divergence of the AMA with its own membership is the question of social security for doctors. Physicians are not covered by Social Security and the AMA flatly opposes their coverage on the grounds that it would be the "entering wedge." (Entering wedge to what, you ask, junior? To socialism, of course. Like the Post Office and the public schools. Entering wedges both of 'em, dammit, and the country's never recovered.)

A good many polls and samplings have indicated that most physicians would like to be covered by Social Security. The way to settle this would be a nationwide poll of doctors, but the AMA has done everything in its very considerable power to frustrate this. The AMA doesn't want to be shown to be so grievously at odds with its own members.

In fact, the suspicion exists that the permanent professional hierarchy, which runs the AMA, feels that it knows what's good for the doctors much more than the doctors know what's good for themselves. There again, the AMA is not alone in this matter. Professional organizations traditionally hate to ask the consent of the governed or to see their advice or sometimes even to find out what they want.

Cause Of Chronic Bronchitis Often Overlooked

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The individual with chronic bronchitis usually coughs at least three months of the year. There are periods when the lungs are better and hacking is confined to cleaning out the bronchi in the morning and a few times during the day.

But coughing recurs, especially when the victim catches cold. Hacking and expectorating last several weeks and often are blamed on a persistent respiratory infection. "I just can't shake this cold" is a common expression.

This is understandable because the true cause is overlooked. When bronchitis stems from allergy or too much smoking, hacking is more persistent and is likely to get worse unless the offenders are eliminated. In time, the periods of coughing get longer and longer and the periods of improvement shorter and shorter. The individual ultimately develops complications such as emphysema and shortness of breath.

This sequence is not mentioned to frighten anyone but to predict what is in store for the increasing number of people with chronic bronchitis. We refer to those who refuse to do anything about the causative factors. Those willing to co-operate can be helped.

A team of Baltimore physicians treated 32 bronchitics with one of the tetracycline drugs for periods of three months. During this time there was less cough, sputum, and shortness of breath. In addition, there were fewer recurrences of new respiratory infections of the type causing a return of chronic coughing. This type of drug may have its greatest usefulness for these individuals when taken at the first sign of a cold.

More than an antibiotic is needed to relieve cough permanently. This is true for the heavy smoker, the alcoholic, and for those exposed to industrial dusts and gases. The sensitive person also must eliminate offending allergens. Additional relief may be obtained from other cough remedies such as drugs that dilate the bronchi and liquefy the sputum.

TURNED IN TOES

Mrs. B. writes: If a 1 month old baby's toes turn in, is this pigeon toe? Does he need a brace? Will vitamins help? Is this rickets? Will lying on the stomach help? Does he need an orthopedist? Is this due to bad diet during pregnancy?

REPLY

The answer to your question is a series of No's. So long as the baby's feet and toes are flexible and can be straightened out with the hands, there is no need to worry. Should this condition continue much longer, bring it to your physician's attention.

ARTHRITIC POPULATION

M. B. writes: Does nearly everybody get arthritis as they grow older?

REPLY

Yes. More than 90 per cent of those over 40 have some evidence of degenerative joint changes. But only 5 to 10 per cent have symptoms of arthritis.

SCIATIC PAIN

J. A. T. writes: Is sciatica a nerve or a muscle ailment?

REPLY

Sciatica refers to pain along the sciatic nerve, which usually is felt at the back of the thigh. Pressure on the nerve in the lower part of the spine usually is responsible.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

Nancy Fagg, spectacularly-easy-to-look-at newspaper gal in Houston, Texas, has a 7-year-old daughter named Meredith who heard the word "plaza" used frequently by two schoolmates of Mexican extraction. "Mummy," inquired Meredith one evening, "exactly what is a plaza?" "A plaza," explained Mrs. Fagg, "is a square."

Meredith considered this information judiciously, then announced, "The new principal in our school is sure one big old plaza!"

Quotes:

George Jean Nathan: "I don't know much about medicine, but I know what I don't like."

Ovid: "Chaste is she whom no one has asked."

Kin Hubbard: "The hardest thing to disguise is your feelings when you put your mother-in-law aboard a train for home."

Oscar Wilde: "Duty is what one expects from others."

Austin O'Malley: "A gentleman is a prevaricator who never heard his guest's new story before."

Papa Shrecklich wasn't too impressed with the girl Junior brought home for dinner. "I thought you said your girl's legs were without equal," he jeered while she was out of the room. "Not at all," hedged Junior. "I said they were without parallel."

Cleveland Edges Senators, Ties For First Place As Yankees Bow

Bell Saves Victory For Ramos With 9th Inning Relief Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Relief pitcher Gary Bell saved Pedro Ramos' first victory of the season Friday night and Chuck Essegian hit his 12th home run to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Bell came on in the ninth inning with none out and a two-ball and one-strike count on Jim Piersall. He retired Piersall on a grounder and then got Gene Woodling and Dale Long on routine chances.

The game marked the first time this season that Ramos, acquired from the Minnesota Twins, went past the fifth inning.

Essegian, who scored both Cleveland runs and raised his league leading batting average to .383, doubled to open the sixth inning off Washington starter and loser Claude Osteen. He scored on John Romano's one-out single.

Essegian hit a towering home run off Osteen with one out in the eighth inning to give the Indians a 2-0 lead. The ball narrowly eluded left fielder Jim King's leaping grasp.

Danny O'Connell homered with two out in the eighth for Washington's only run. The run was the first the Senators scored for Osteen in the 27 innings he has worked this season. It also marked the 11th game that the Senators have lost by one run.

Disputed Homer By Tigers Nips New York, 5-4

McAuliffe, Fernandez Hit For Circuit; Don Mossi Is Winner

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chico Fernandez's bitterly disputed seventh inning homer and the gritty pitching of Don Mossi Friday night enabled the Detroit Tigers to stretch their winning streak to four consecutive games with a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

Fernandez's homer was a towering fly which backed rookie Joe Pepitone to the base of the lower left field wall. Pepitone leaped and the ball bounced back onto the playing field. The Yanks claimed Pepitone had blocked the ball but umpire Joe Paparella ruled that a fan in the stands touched it and deflected it onto the field.

Mossi, who owns a 15-13 lifetime record against the Yankees but failed to beat them all last season, yielded 11 hits but 10 of them were singles. He was tagged for three of the Yankees runs in the fifth inning, with Elston Howard's two-run single the most important of New York's five singles.

Tom Tresh led off the ninth inning with a double but Mossi then retired Pepitone, Roger Maris and Howard to end the game.

Dick McAuliffe smashed a three run homer in the first inning when the Tigers scored four runs. Rookie third baseman Phil Linz's error started the rally and a single by Dick Bruton and a walk to Norm Cash preceded McAuliffe's homer.

BOSTON (UPI) — Jim Gentile slammed his 13th home run of the season, a 440-foot blast into an exit in the right field bleachers, to give the Baltimore Orioles a 9-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox Friday night.

Bell Saves Victory For Ramos With 9th Inning Relief Job

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Relief pitcher Gary Bell saved Pedro Ramos' first victory of the season Friday night and Chuck Essegian hit his 12th home run to lead the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 triumph over the Washington Senators.

Bell came on in the ninth inning with none out and a two-ball and one-strike count on Jim Piersall. He retired Piersall on a grounder and then got Gene Woodling and Dale Long on routine chances.

The game marked the first time this season that Ramos, acquired from the Minnesota Twins, went past the fifth inning.

Essegian, who scored both Cleveland runs and raised his league leading batting average to .383, doubled to open the sixth inning off Washington starter and loser Claude Osteen. He scored on John Romano's one-out single.

Essegian hit a towering home run off Osteen with one out in the eighth inning to give the Indians a 2-0 lead. The ball narrowly eluded left fielder Jim King's leaping grasp.

Danny O'Connell homered with two out in the eighth for Washington's only run. The run was the first the Senators scored for Osteen in the 27 innings he has worked this season. It also marked the 11th game that the Senators have lost by one run.

Disputed Homer By Tigers Nips New York, 5-4

McAuliffe, Fernandez Hit For Circuit; Don Mossi Is Winner

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chico Fernandez's bitterly disputed seventh inning homer and the gritty pitching of Don Mossi Friday night enabled the Detroit Tigers to stretch their winning streak to four consecutive games with a 5-4 victory over the New York Yankees.

Fernandez's homer was a towering fly which backed rookie Joe Pepitone to the base of the lower left field wall. Pepitone leaped and the ball bounced back onto the playing field. The Yanks claimed Pepitone had blocked the ball but umpire Joe Paparella ruled that a fan in the stands touched it and deflected it onto the field.

Mossi, who owns a 15-13 lifetime record against the Yankees but failed to beat them all last season, yielded 11 hits but 10 of them were singles. He was tagged for three of the Yankees runs in the fifth inning, with Elston Howard's two-run single the most important of New York's five singles.

Tom Tresh led off the ninth inning with a double but Mossi then retired Pepitone, Roger Maris and Howard to end the game.

Dick McAuliffe smashed a three run homer in the first inning when the Tigers scored four runs. Rookie third baseman Phil Linz's error started the rally and a single by Dick Bruton and a walk to Norm Cash preceded McAuliffe's homer.

Gentile's 13th Homer Big Blow As Orioles Win

Bill Monboquette Suffers 9-5 Loss

BOSTON (UPI) — Jim Gentile slammed his 13th home run of the season, a 440-foot blast into an exit in the right field bleachers, to give the Baltimore Orioles a 9-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox Friday night.

Gentile's sixth inning homer with one man on base was the big blow for Baltimore starter Chuck Estrada's third victory of the season and second over ninth place Boston. Gentile also rapped a two-run single in the 9th to drive in four runs for the night.

Boston starter Bill Monbouquette was the loser, giving up five runs on nine hits in the seven innings he worked. Reliefer Chet Nichols was charged with one Oriole run on three hits in the eighth, and his successor, Arnold Earley, gave up the other 3 Baltimore runs in the ninth.

Allegany Tops LaSalle In 8th, 6-4, Race Ends In Triple Tie

Campers Take City Title On Davis' Double

Blow Decides Extra Inning Tilt; Bruce, Beall, Ft. Hill Win

COUNTY LEAGUE

Standing Of The Teams

Eastern Division:	W.	L.		W.	L.
Allegany	7	3	Fort Hill	7	3
LaSalle	7	3	Flintstone	0	10

Western Division:	W.	L.		W.	L.
Beall	8	2	Mt. Savage	5	5
Bruce	5	5	Valley	1	9

The Eastern Division race in the Allegany County High School Baseball League ended in a triple tie yesterday when Coach Chet Payne's Allegany High Campers defeated LaSalle's Explorers in eight innings at Stitcher Field by the score of 6-4 and Fort Hill's Sentinels trounced the Flintstone Aggies at Flintstone, 16-1.

Representatives of Allegany, LaSalle and Fort Hill, the schools involved in the three-way tie, will meet at 9:30 a. m. today at the Wilson Hardware Company to determine how the teams will be matched to decide the Eastern Division championship. After division winners are decided inter-division games must be played to settle the league championship. The two top teams in each division will battle it out for the league crown.

Beall, the Western Division winner, defeated Valley yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 9-8, but Bruce and Mt. Savage wound up in a tie for the runner-up spot when the Bulldogs down the Indians at Westernport by the score of 7-2.

Win City Title

By winning yesterday's extra inning battle, Allegany made a sweep of its season series with LaSalle, and captured the 1962 city championship with a 3-1 record. The Campers won the opener of the LaSalle series, 10-8, and split a pair of games with Fort Hill.

Jim Stewart and Lefty John Sloan hooked up in a neat pitchers' duel until the eight frame when the Campers pushed over three runs to win. Roger Flanagan walked and advanced to third when Jimmie Cox was safe on an error. After Frank Williams flied to Don Harden, "Chuck" Davis doubled to centerfield, scoring two runs. A bad throw enabled Davis to reach third and he came home with the final tally on John Roy's infield out.

In the last of the eighth Rick Shaffer singled and scored on Tommy Stitcher's two-base wallop but Terry Talley and Harden grounded out to end the game.

LaSalle outhit Allegany 10 to 6. Stewart struck out six, issued two passes and posted his fourth win of the campaign against two losses. Sloan pitched 7⅓ innings for LaSalle and was charged with the loss, his second against three wins. The Explorers' southpaw fanned five and walked three. Tommy Stitcher finished on the mound for LaSalle.

Four Hits For Stitcher

Stitcher was the game's hitting star with two doubles and two singles in four official trips. Joe Nolan, LaSalle's leadoff batter, belted a homer over the right field fence in the first inning and had two hits. Bill Norris accounted for two of the Campers' six blows.

Fort Hill racked up 13 hits, including three doubles and four three-base belts, in crushing the Aggies and handing the latter their tenth straight loss of the season.

Ronnie Manges paced the winners at the plate with two doubles and a single while Charley Cross and Wellington Donahue had two safeties each. Howard Reynolds went the route for Fort Hill, yielded six hits and struck out nine to notch his first victory. Two of Flintstone's hits were credited to Thomas.

Forces Over Winning Run

Beall nosed out Valley in the 7th and final frame when relief pitcher Moffatt walked John Chaney, John Wilson and Rance Ritchie with the bases loaded to force over the deciding run. Wayne Harper opened the inning with a walk and after he went out stealing, Tom Wilson doubled.

Vinci's running catch of a drive from Allen Eisel's bat in the third inning was the fielding gem. Beall outhit Valley 12 to 2. Don Richards, Beall hurler, issued eight passes and fanned three. Matthews was tagged with the loss.

Bruce scored five runs in the first inning and added two more tallies in the fourth to defeat Mt. Savage. These teams will be required to meet again in a playoff for the Western Division runner-up spot.

The big first inning was marked by singles by Jim Morris, Donnie Raines and Mike Warnick coupled with walks to Whitfield and Malcolm, a hit batsman, sacrifice, infield out and fielder's choice.

Eddie Delilo limited Mt. Savage to five hits and struck out four. Lefty Wayne Howell yielded seven safeties and struck out six Bruce batsmen.

Barrelville Seeks Fourth Straight Win

Plays Flintstone In Sunday Game

Frostburg's front-running Merchants are idle for the second straight Sunday but the six other clubs of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will see action tomorrow in games at Mt. Savage, Grantsville and Flintstone.

Barrelville's Old Exports (5-1), occupants of second place, will invade Flintstone (0-5), the Hyndman Merchants (3-3) visit Garrett county to play Grantsville (2-3) and the Mt. Savage Old Germans (2-4) will host Lonaconing (2-4) in 2:30 p.m. games tomorrow.

Barrelville will be angling for its fourth straight victory tomorrow. Winless Flintstone has dropped five games and is slated to play at Grantsville today at 3:30 in a make-up game that was rained out on May 13.

The reason for Frostburg (6-0) being idle on successive Sundays is because of the withdrawal of Moorefield from the league before the season got under way. The West Virginia team originally was slated to play Frostburg last Sunday and tomorrow.

Bedford Road Trips Jaycees

Al Delbrugge Wins Second Game, 8-4

Al Delbrugge tossed a five-hitter and struck out 11 as he pitched Manager Ced Miller's Bedford Road Optimists to an 8-4 victory over the Jaycees yesterday in a Hot Stove League encounter at Penn Avenue field.

The win was the second for Delbrugge and gave the Optimists their second triumph in three starts this season. The loss was the first for the Jaycees in two games.

The Bedford Roaders rallied for seven runs in the fourth and fifth innings after trailing 4-0 early in the game. The loss was pinned on Jaycees starter Bob Powell who was relieved by Hal Daugherty in the fifth.

Jeff McNeil collected three hits while Bill Zapf and Ken Mowery each rapped out two for the Optimists. Donnie Sewell had two hits and Daugherty banged a home run for the Jaycees.

Zapf's running catch of a line drive in right field for the Optimists was the game's outstanding fielding play. The results:

Moss Continues To Make Progress

LONDON (UPI)—Stirling Moss, injured British auto racing driver, continues to make "satisfactory and steady progress" from his multiple injuries, a hospital bulletin stated Friday.

The bulletin from Atkinson Morley Hospital said that the movement of the left side of Moss' body still is improving. Previously doctors reported a "weakness" of the left arm and leg caused by a head injury.

Fractures of the left arm and leg are progressing satisfactorily, the bulletin added, and there is no intention of operating on either at present.

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—The Wheeling Downs Racing Association and pari - mutuel employes reached a wage agreement Friday, about six hours before the racetrack was to open its spring night-meeting.

Association spokesman James F. Edwards, who said Thursday that negotiations with Local 101 of the Building Service Employes union had reached an impasse, announced the settlement Friday. Terms of the agreement with some 200 members of the local were not disclosed.

Allegany Tops LaSalle In 8th, 6-4, Race Ends In Triple Tie

Campers Take City Title On Davis' Double

Blow Decides Extra Inning Tilt; Bruce, Beall, Ft. Hill Win

COUNTY LEAGUE

Standing Of The Teams

Eastern Division:

	W.	L.		W.	L.
Allegany	7	3	Fort Hill	7	3
LaSalle	7	3	Flintstone	0	10

Western Division:

	W.	L.		W.	L.
Beall	8	2	Mt. Savage	5	5
Bruce	5	5	Valley	1	9

The Eastern Division race in the Allegany County High School Baseball League ended in a triple tie yesterday when Coach Chet Payne's Allegany High Campers defeated LaSalle's Explorers in eight innings at Stitcher Field by the score of 6-4 and Fort Hill's Sentinels trounced the Flintstone Aggies at Flintstone, 16-1.

Representatives of Allegany, LaSalle and Fort Hill, the schools involved in the three-way tie, will meet at 9:30 a. m. today at the Wilson Hardware Company to determine how the teams will be matched to decide the Eastern Division championship. After division winners are decided inter-division games must be played to settle the league championship. The two top teams in each division will battle it out for the league crown.

Beall, the Western Division winner, defeated Valley yesterday at Frostburg by the score of 9-8, but Bruce and Mt. Savage wound up in a tie for the runner-up spot when the Bulldogs down the Indians at Westernport by the score of 7-2.

Win City Title

By winning yesterday's extra inning battle, Allegany made a sweep of its season series with LaSalle, and captured the 1962 city championship with a 3-1 record. The Campers won the opener of the LaSalle series, 10-8, and split a pair of games with Fort Hill.

Jim Stewart and Lefty John Sloan hooked up in a neat pitchers' duel until the eight frame when the Campers pushed over three runs to win. Roger Flanagan walked and advanced to third when Jimmie Cox was safe on an error. After Frank Williams flied to Don Harden, "Chuck" Davis doubled to centerfield, scoring two runs. A bad throw enabled Davis to reach third and he came home with the final tally on John Roy's infield out.

In the last of the eighth Rick Shaffer singled and scored on Tommy Stitcher's two-base wallop but Terry Talley and Harden grounded out to end the game.

LaSalle outhit Allegany 10 to 6. Stewart struck out six, issued two passes and posted his fourth win of the campaign against two losses. Sloan pitched 7⅓ innings for LaSalle and was charged with the loss, his second against three wins. The Explorers' southpaw fanned five and walked three. Tommy Stitcher finished on the mound for LaSalle.

Four Hits For Stitcher

Stitcher was the game's hitting star with two doubles and two singles in four official trips. Joe Nolan, LaSalle's leadoff batter, belted a homer over the right field fence in the first inning and had two hits. Bill Norris accounted for two of the Campers' six blows.

Fort Hill racked up 13 hits, including three doubles and four three-base belts, in crushing the Aggies and handing the latter their tenth straight loss of the season.

Ronnie Manges paced the winners at the plate with two doubles and a single while Charley Cross and Wellington Donahue had two safeties each. Howard Reynolds went the route for Fort Hill, yielded six hits and struck out nine to notch his first victory. Two of Flintstone's hits were credited to Thomas.

Forces Over Winning Run

Beall nosed out Valley in the 7th and final frame when relief pitcher Moffatt walked John Chaney, John Wilson and Rance Ritchie with the bases loaded to force over the deciding run. Wayne Harper opened the inning with a walk and after he went out stealing, Tom Wilson doubled.

Vinci's running catch of a drive from Allen Eisel's bat in the third inning was the fielding gem. Beall outhit Valley 12 to 2. Don Richards, Beall hurler, issued eight passes and fanned three. Matthews was tagged with the loss.

Bruce scored five runs in the first inning and added two more tallies in the fourth to defeat Mt. Savage. These teams will be required to meet again in a playoff for the Western Division runner-up spot.

The big first inning was marked by singles by Jim Morris, Donnie Raines and Mike Warnick coupled with walks to Whitfield and Malcolm, a hit batsman, sacrifice, infield out and fielder's choice.

Eddie Delilo limited Mt. Savage to five hits and struck out four. Lefty Wayne Howell yielded seven safeties and struck out six Bruce batsmen.

Barrelville Seeks Fourth Straight Win

Plays Flintstone In Sunday Game

Frostburg's front-running Merchants are idle for the second straight Sunday but the six other clubs of the Pen-Mar Baseball League will see action tomorrow in games at Mt. Savage, Grantsville and Flintstone.

Barrelville's Old Exports (5-1), occupants of second place, will invade Flintstone (0-5), the Hyndman Merchants (3-3) visit Garrett county to play Grantsville (2-3) and the Mt. Savage Old Germans (2-4) will host Lonaconing (2-4) in 2:30 p.m. games tomorrow.

Barrelville will be angling for its fourth straight victory tomorrow. Winless Flintstone has dropped five games and is slated to play at Grantsville today at 3:30 in a make-up game that was rained out on May 13.

The reason for Frostburg (6-0) being idle on successive Sundays is because of the withdrawal of Moorefield from the league before the season got under way. The West Virginia team originally was slated to play Frostburg last Sunday and tomorrow.

Bedford Road Trips Jaycees

Al Delbrugge Wins Second Game, 8-4

Al Delbrugge tossed a five-hitter and struck out 11 as he pitched Manager Ced Miller's Bedford Road Optimists to an 8-4 victory over the Jaycees yesterday in a Hot Stove League encounter at Penn Avenue field.

The win was the second for Delbrugge and gave the Optimists their second triumph in three starts this season. The loss was the first for the Jaycees in two games.

The Bedford Roaders rallied for seven runs in the fourth and fifth innings after trailing 4-0 early in the game. The loss was pinned on Jaycees starter Bob Powell who was relieved by Hal Daugherty in the fifth.

Jeff McNeil collected three hits while Bill Zapf and Ken Mowery each rapped out two for the Optimists. Donnie Sewell had two hits and Daugherty banged a home run for the Jaycees.

Zapf's running catch of a line drive in right field for the Optimists was the game's outstanding fielding play. The results:

BEDFORD ROAD	000	430	1—	8	11 2
JAYCEES	202	000	0—	4	5 4

Al Delbrugge and Steve Madden. Bob Powell, Hal Daugherty (5) and Donnie Sewell.

Loser—Powell.

HR—Daugherty (Jaycees).

Wright And Moyer Fight At Garden

NEW YORK (UPI) — Middleweight Phil Moyer of Portland, Ore., will try to break his New York jinx Saturday night at Madison Square Garden as a substitute against welterweight contender Teddy Wright of Detroit.

Their 10-rounder will be televised nationally by ABC at 10 p.m. EDT.

Phil is substituting for his more famous younger brother, 22-year-old Denny Moyer, high-ranking middleweight contender. Denny withdrew because of an ear infection.

Moss Continues To Make Progress

LONDON (UPI)—Stirling Moss, injured British auto racing driver, continues to make "satisfactory and steady progress" from his multiple injuries, a hospital bulletin stated Friday.

The bulletin from Atkinson Morley Hospital said that the movement of the left side of Moss' body still is improving. Previously doctors reported a "weakness" of the left arm and leg caused by a head injury.

Fractures of the left arm and leg are progressing satisfactorily, the bulletin added, and there is no intention of operating on either at present.

Reach Agreement

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—The Wheeling Downs Racing Association and pari-mutuel employes reached a wage agreement Friday, about six hours before the racetrack was to open its spring night-meeting.

Association spokesman James F. Edwards, who said Thursday that negotiations with Local 101 of the Building Service Employes union had reached an impasse, announced the settlement Friday. Terms of the agreement with some 200 members of the local were not disclosed.

In Memoriam

In memory of Enoch W. Fleek, who passed away 13 years ago, May 27, 1949.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS

In loving memory of Ephriam Stafford who died 2-years ago, May 25th, 1960.
A light is from our household gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home which never can be filled.
Some may think you are forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more;
But in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
Sadly missed by
WIFE, SON & DAUGHTERS

In Memoriam

In memory of Enoch W. Fleek, who passed away 13 years ago, May 27, 1949.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.
Sadly missed by
MOTHER, SISTERS AND BROTHERS

In loving memory of Ephriam Stafford who died 2-years ago, May 25th, 1960.
A light is from our household gone,
A voice we loved is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home which never can be filled.
Some may think you are forgotten,
Though on earth you are no more;
But in memory you are with us,
As you always were before.
Sadly missed by
WIFE, SON & DAUGHTERS

NEW 'JEEP' TORNADO-OHC ENGINE

You'll be amazed at its performance!

BIRTH OF A CHAMPION! Today, after years of research, development and testing, Willys Motors proudly presents the 'Jeep' Tornado-OHC—America's first overhead camshaft engine designed for commercial vehicles.

WHAT IS AN OHC ENGINE? In a pushrod engine the valves are on top—the camshaft, which operates them, is at the bottom. It's an awkward situation like playing the piano sitting on the floor—you have to stretch up and over to hit the keys. Giving the Tornado-OHC engine overhead cams—which is what the initials OHC stand for—is like giving the pianist a chair. You get much better performance.

LOADED OHC 'JEEP' VEHICLE PULLS LIKE IT'S EMPTY! 33% more power—and, more important, very high torque at very low engine speeds give the Tornado-OHC engine better acceleration and much longer life.

EASY GOING—ON GAS AND MAINTENANCE! Higher thermal efficiency means up to 25% better gas economy. Fewer moving parts mean simpler, less frequent, less expensive maintenance.

COME IN AND TEST DRIVE THE TORNADO-OHC ENGINE—now available in 'Jeep' Pick-ups, 4-wheel drive Utility Wagons, 2WD Station Wagons and Panel Deliveries. But be warned—with its exciting performance you'll probably want to take it home with you!

Thousands Get Oral Vaccine

16 Centers Open At 1 P.M. Today

Several thousand Allegany countians flocked to 14 dispensing centers yesterday for free drinks of Sabin oral polio vaccine.

No estimate of the total number was available when the centers closed at 8 p.m. yesterday, but doctors of the sponsoring Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society figured the response was about the same as for the first day of the second-dose program last October, when about 9,000 took vaccine.

The response among school children was a little better this time. A total of 16,156 took vaccine Thursday in the schools. In October the figure was 16,062.

Two Open Later

The same 14 dispensing centers will be open again today from 1 to 8 p.m. Two others at Flintstone and Oldtown were not open yesterday but will operate from 1 to 9 p.m. today.

Doctors were pleased with the way things went yesterday. Probably because of a simplified record system, no lines were seen at dispensing centers. People moved quickly through all the stations.

At most stations, "business" was slow during most of the afternoon, but at others, notably at John Humbird School, people came through in a fairly steady stream.

Some centers reported a few minor mixups at the start of the program, but no real problems. Each center was manned by one doctor, a pharmacist, one or more nurses and several busy lay workers.

State Police Help

The State Police got one dispensing station past a bad moment early in the afternoon. The station at Central Elementary School in Lonaconing ran out of paper cups for serving vaccine. A State trooper was sent to Memorial Hospital for more cups, which he took to the station.

Based on the experience of last October, today should be an even bigger day at most centers. In October, a total of 41,895 took Type II vaccine. Last June, 38,177 took Type I vaccine.

Today's final feeding of Type III vaccine is for everybody three months old or over, regardless of where they live or where they took vaccine last June or October. Even if they didn't take it then, they're welcome to do so today.

483 Countians Get Medical Care For Aged

Over 9,000 Enrolled In State Program

More than 9,000 persons in Maryland 65 years and older, including 483 in Allegany County and 149 in Garrett County, received medical care last month under the Medical Assistance to the Aged program.

The MAA was set up in June last year as a result of Maryland's adoption of the Kerr-Mills program which provides funds on a matching basis for care programs for the elderly.

In a summary of statistics provided by the state to the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, Baltimore city headed the enrollment with 3,863. Baltimore County has an enrollment of 969 and the total for all counties is 5,462.

The State Department of Health has estimated enrollment by June 1 will exceed 10,000 for the one-year-old program.

The MAA program is an outgrowth of the medical care programs which have been in existence in Maryland since the 1940's. Last year more than 70,000 persons of all ages were cared for under the various programs.

Dr. Karl F. Mech, legislative chairman for the Medical Faculty said the coverage under the MAA and Kerr-Mills Bill for persons 65 years and older is unlimited. Hospital and nursing home care is provided under allied programs.

He said that at the present, the program is costing each Maryland taxpayer 62 cents. This pays the cost of drugs and home and office visits.

Allegany County is third among Maryland's counties in the number receiving medical care. Only Baltimore County and Anne Arundel County, with 527, topped this county.

Oral Vaccine Centers Listed

All centers except those at Oldtown and Flintstone will be open from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. today. Those two centers will be open from 1 to 9 p. m.

The locations:

Cumberland — Emmanuel Episcopal parish house, LaSalle, Penn Avenue, John Humbird, Fort Hill, Gephart and West Side schools.

LaVale — LaVale School, Parkside School.

Cresaptown — Cresaptown School.

Frostburg — Beall Elementary School.

Westernport — Westernport Elementary School.

Lonaconing — Central Elementary School.

Mt. Savage — St. George Episcopal Church parish hall.

Oldtown — Oldtown School.

Flintstone — Flintstone Fire Hall.

$185 Stolen At Cresaptown

State Police at LaVale are investigating the breaking and theft of $185 sometime yesterday at lodge home of Aerie 2883 FO Eagles in Cresaptown.

Tfc. Charles T. Snow said the theft was discovered when a bartender arrived for work about 12:30 p.m.

He said $125 in rolls of dimes and nickels and $60 in bills was stolen. The $60 was the proceeds from a Heart Fund dance which was held recently at the home.

A window was broken in the rear of the building and the intruder gained entrance by reaching through the window and unlocking the door. Nothing else was taken by the thief.

Hailstorms Cause Orchard Damage

HANCOCK, Md. (AP) — Apple orchards in the Appalachian fruit belt may have sustained as much as $1 million damage from three hailstorms since last Sunday.

Growers said peach orchards in the same area apparently escaped without serious damage in the fruit belt which embraces portions of Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

An early Thursday storm damaged up to 50 per cent of the apples in some orchards of the Hancock area.

Check Smoke Report

South Cumberland Fire Company was called to the 400 block of South Street late yesterday morning after smoke was reported in a home. Firemen investigated and found no indication of fire.

Fulton Myers Post To Hold Services

Fulton Myers Post 156, American Legion, will conduct memorial services tomorrow at 7 p.m. at Metropolitan A.M.E. Church, corner of Decatur and Frederick streets.

Guest speaker will be George R. Hughes Jr., local attorney. Members of the post and auxiliary are requested to attend.

Mt. Savage VFW To Hold Memorial Day Services

Old Rail Post 6025, Veterans of Foreign Wars in Mt. Savage, has completed plans for Memorial Day services, according to Carl J. Neder, chairman of the military committee.

Guest speaker for the services 9 a.m. Wednesday will be J. Glenn Beall Jr.

Mr. Neder will be master of ceremonies and the invocation will be given by Rev. William C. Harpold, pastor of Mt. Savage Methodist Church. The benediction will be offered by Rev. William E. McGrew, rector of St. George Episcopal Church.

Units which will participate include the Mt. Savage High School band, directed by Thomas Lewis; Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts; American Legion Auxiliary; VFW members and auxiliary; Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company and Auxiliary; and the Junior and Senior Glee clubs of Mt. Savage High School, under the direction of Miss Carol Miller.

Mr. Neder also announced today has been designated as "Poppy Day" in Mt. Savage. Proceeds from the sale of artificial poppies by Cub Scouts will be sent to the Child Welfare Committee of the VFM National Headquarters.

Taking Polio Vaccine Is Family Affair

These two young mothers, pictured at Pennsylvania Avenue School, are typical of many who took their young children to various centers around the county yesterday to get their free Type III Sabin oral polio vaccine doses. Bruce Hammersmith, three-and-one-half year old son of Mrs. Donald Hammersmith, is obligingly taking his third dose for the benefit of the photographer. Mrs. Raymond Welsh, left, had to use a little persuasion to get her three-year-old daughter, Donna, to take her second dose. Terry Welsh, Donna's five-month old sister, being held by Mrs. Welsh, was old enough to get her first dose. However, two-month old Jeffrey Hammersmith, being held by his mother, was a little too young for his first dose. The centers will be open again today from 1 until 8 p.m. except at Flintstone and Oldtown, where they will be open until 9 p.m.

Assembly Clears Decks For Fight Over Seating

Face Pressure Of Court Order, Time

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Recalcitrant legislators from smaller counties of Maryland merely cleared the decks Friday for what promises to be a tumultous struggle over reapportionment.

Railing at what they decried as court intervention, the legislators went through the opening hours of their special session and put off the battle until Monday.

The legislature will be under pressure of both a court order and time next week. They will be facing a Thursday deadline of enacting legal redistribution of seats to correct what a Circuit Court called invidious apportionment in the House.

Legislators showed dislike for acting under whip of the court and the form of compliance recommended by the administration of Gov. Tawes.

Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr. D-Dorchester, introduced a resolution charging that rulings by the courts, "have been clear, flagrant and unwarranted exercises of legislative power."

Would Rewrite

He called on them to "desist from imposing democracy upon us by judicical fiat." His resolution would call for rewriting the 14th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution to state that "it does not extend to controversies concerning the apportionment of state legislature . . ."

Malkus claimed the Supreme Court, which has directed lower tribunals to hear state apportionment complaints, did so by reversing the original intent of the amendment.

Malkus, is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

A vigorous foe of reapportionment in the past, he nevertheless introduced a counter proposal to the administration for the method of giving big metropolitan counties more seats in the House.

His proposal would take away fewer seats from the other counties or Baltimore City and give fewer to the biggest counties. The administration plan is aimed at keeping total membershp at 123 while providing the most populous counties with more at the expense of the others.

No Change In Senate

No change is contemplated at present in the Senate set-up, with each district having one. But a private committee that initiated the court suit is asking the Maryland Court of Appeals to direct a Senate revision in the future.

Circuit Judge O. Bowie Duckett had forced legislative action last Thursday by declaring void the present constitutional section fixing makeup of the House in which no county or city district may have more than six delegates or less than two.

"We must have been unconstitutional then when we created two new judges on the court of appeals," remarked Del. Thomas H. Lowe, D-Talbot.

"So we now have an uncon-

Humanist Leader To Talk To Unitarian Fellowship

Dr. Edwin H. Wilson, one of the leaders of the Humanist movement in America, will deliver a sermon on "Humanism and Liberal Religion" on Sunday at 11:15 a.m. at Central YMCA.

Dr. Wilson has served as executive director of the American Humanist Association since 1949. He has edited a number of Humanist publications, including "The Humanist" and "Free Mind."

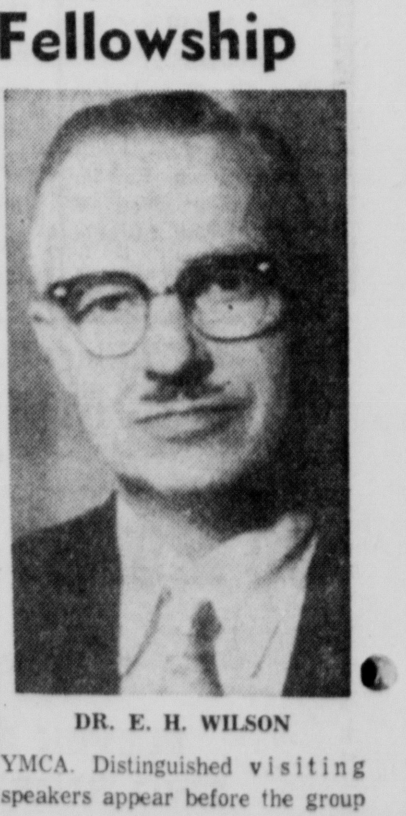
He will come to Cumberland from the annual meetings of the Unitarian-Universalist Association of America, now in Washington, D. C.

He will speak here under the auspices of the Cumberland Unitarian Fellowship.

The Humanist and Unitarian movements alike advocate the active use of the free mind in the field of religion. Many Unitarians are also Humanists. Most Humanists believe that there is a certain divinity in the human spirit. Belief in the worth and potential of man dominates their religious lives.

Dr. Wilson has earned degrees from Boston University, the University of Chicago and Meadville Theological School. He has also studied abroad at the Sorbonne, Oxford and London University.

As a Unitarian minister, he has served congregations at Dayton, Ohio, Chicago, Schenectady and Salt Lake City.



DR. E. H. WILSON

The Cumberland Unitarian Fellowship meets Sundays at the YMCA. Distinguished visiting speakers appear before the group to supplement the program of lay sermons and discussion meetings. Membership in the Fellowship does not require acceptance of any formal creed. Instead, each member is encouraged to develop his own philosophy of life, taking advantage at the same time of the religious discoveries made by others. The local Fellowship is affiliated, through the Unitarian-Universalist Association, with liberal churches and fellowships across the nation.

Thousands Get Oral Vaccine

16 Centers Open At 1 P.M. Today

Several thousand Allegany countians flocked to 14 dispensing centers yesterday for free drinks of Sabin oral polio vaccine.

No estimate of the total number was available when the centers closed at 8 p.m. yesterday, but doctors of the sponsoring Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society figured the response was about the same as for the first day of the second-dose program last October, when about 9,000 took vaccine.

The response among school children was a little better this time. A total of 16,156 took vaccine Thursday in the schools. In October the figure was 16,062.

Two Open Later

The same 14 dispensing centers will be open again today from 1 to 8 p.m. Two others at Flintstone and Oldtown were not open yesterday but will operate from 1 to 9 p.m. today.

Doctors were pleased with the way things went yesterday. Probably because of a simplified record system, no lines were seen at dispensing centers. People moved quickly through all the stations.

At most stations, "business" was slow during most of the afternoon, but at others, notably at John Humbird School, people came through in a fairly steady stream.

Some centers reported a few minor mixups at the start of the program, but no real problems. Each center was manned by one doctor, a pharmacist, one or more nurses and several busy lay workers.

State Police Help

The State Police got one dispensing station past a bad moment early in the afternoon. The station at Central Elementary School in Lonaconing ran out of paper cups for serving vaccine. A State trooper was sent to Memorial Hospital for more cups, which he took to the station.

Based on the experience of last October, today should be an even bigger day at most centers. In October, a total of 41,895 took Type II vaccine. Last June, 38,177 took Type I vaccine.

Today's final feeding of Type III vaccine is for everybody three months old or over, regardless of where they live or where they took vaccine last June or October. Even if they didn't take it then, they're welcome to do so today.

483 Countians Get Medical Care For Aged

Over 9,000 Enrolled In State Program

More than 9,000 persons in Maryland 65 years and older, including 483 in Allegany County and 149 in Garrett County, received medical care last month under the Medical Assistance to the Aged program.

The MAA was set up in June last year as a result of Maryland's adoption of the Kerr-Mills program which provides funds on a matching basis for care programs for the elderly.

In a summary of statistics provided by the state to the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, Baltimore city headed the enrollment with 3,863. Baltimore County has an enrollment of 969 and the total for all counties is 5,462.

The State Department of Health has estimated enrollment by June 1 will exceed 10,000 for the one-year-old program.

The MAA program is an outgrowth of the medical care programs which have been in existence in Maryland since the 1940's. Last year more than 70,000 persons of all ages were cared for under the various programs.

Dr. Karl F. Mech, legislative chairman for the Medical Faculty said the coverage under the MAA and Kerr-Mills Bill for persons 65 years and older is unlimited. Hospital and nursing home care is provided under allied programs.

He said that at the present, the program is costing each Maryland taxpayer 62 cents. This pays the cost of drugs and home and office visits.

Allegany County is third among Maryland's counties in the number receiving medical care. Only Baltimore County and Anne Arundel County, with 527, topped this county.

Assembly Clears Decks For Fight Over Seating

Face Pressure Of Court Order, Time

By GEORGE BOWEN

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Recalcitrant legislators from smaller counties of Maryland merely cleared the decks Friday for what promises to be a tumultous struggle over reapportionment.

Railing at what they decried as court intervention, the legislators went through the opening hours of their special session and put off the battle until Monday.

The legislature will be under pressure of both a court order and time next week. They will be facing a Thursday deadline of enacting legal redistribution of seats to correct what a Circuit Court called invidious apportionment in the House.

Legislators showed dislike for acting under whip of the court and the form of compliance recommended by the administration of Gov. Tawes.

Sen. Frederick C. Malkus Jr. D-Dorchester, introduced a resolution charging that rulings by the courts, "have been clear, flagrant and unwarranted exercises of legislative power."

Would Rewrite

He called on them to "desist from imposing democracy upon us by judicical fiat." His resolution would call for rewriting the 14th Amendment of the U. S. Constitution to state that "it does not extend to controversies concerning the apportionment of state legislature . . ."

Malkus claimed the Supreme Court, which has directed lower tribunals to hear state apportionment complaints, did so by reversing the original intent of the amendment.

Malkus, is chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

A vigorous foe of reapportionment in the past, he nevertheless introduced a counter proposal to the administration for the method of giving big metropolitan counties more seats in the House.

His proposal would take away fewer seats from the other counties or Baltimore City and give fewer to the biggest counties. The administration plan is aimed at keeping total membershp at 123 while providing the most populous counties with more at the expense of the others.

No Change In Senate

No change is contemplated at present in the Senate set-up, with each district having one. But a private committee that initiated the court suit is asking the Maryland Court of Appeals to direct a Senate revision in the future.

Circuit Judge O. Bowie Duckett had forced legislative action last Thursday by declaring void the present constitutional section fixing makeup of the House in which no county or city district may have more than six delegates or less than two.

"We must have been unconstitutional then when we created two new judges on the court of appeals," remarked Del. Thomas H. Lowe, D-Talbot.

"So we now have an uncon-

Humanist Leader To Talk To Unitarian Fellowship

Dr. Edwin H. Wilson, one of the leaders of the Humanist movement in America, will deliver a sermon on "Humanism and Liberal Religion" on Sunday at 11:15 a.m. at Central YMCA.

Dr. Wilson has served as executive director of the American Humanist Association since 1949. He has edited a number of Humanist publications, including "The Humanist" and "Free Mind."

He will come to Cumberland from the annual meetings of the Unitarian-Universalist Association of America, now in Washington, D. C.

He will speak here under the auspices of the Cumberland Unitarian Fellowship.

The Humanist and Unitarian movements alike advocate the active use of the free mind in the field of religion. Many Unitarians are also Humanists. Most Humanists believe that there is a certain divinity in the human spirit. Belief in the worth and potential of man dominates their religious lives.

Dr. Wilson has earned degrees from Boston University, the University of Chicago and Meadville Theological School. He has also studied abroad at the Sorbonne, Oxford and London University.

As a Unitarian minister, he has served congregations at Dayton, Ohio, Chicago, Schenectady and Salt Lake City.

The Cumberland Unitarian Fellowship meets Sundays at the YMCA. Distinguished visiting speakers appear before the group to supplement the program of lay sermons and discussion meetings. Membership in the Fellowship does not require acceptance of any formal creed. Instead, each member is encouraged to develop his own philosophy of life, taking advantage at the same time of the religious discoveries made by others. The local Fellowship is affiliated, through the Unitarian-Universalist Association, with liberal churches and fellowships across the nation.

JERRY LEWIS
In One-Man Show Tuesday

Jerry Lewis' Wacky World Special Scheduled Tuesday

Jerry Lewis, one of the least restrained clowns of this generation, is bringing the gems and highlights of his nightclub act to television this week in an hour-long "special"—his first in three years. The show, which is one of the highpoints of the "Westinghouse Presents" series of "specials," will be seen on Tuesday, May 29, 10-11 p. m. (EDT).

The reason for Jerry's long absence wasn't because he wasn't asked to do television. In fact, Jerry reluctantly divulged in Hollywood recenty that he had been offered a deal which would have paid him as much money as was spent on all the "Tonight" commercials in one year, for a period of 78 weeks. He turned it down.

"I like to work when I can do what I can do best," he explains. "I don't work for pay, nor have I ever. You may not believe this, but I get more of a thrill from a live audience than from a piece of paper that says Pay to the Order of Jerry Lewis.

"But regarding the upcoming Westinghouse show—we're calling it "The Wacky World of Jerry Lewis'.

"I hope people will like it. Because I love what I do, and I'm proud of what I do. Even when it's bad, and I know that too—the punishment starts inside me immediately. But just as you love your baby that's born healthy, you don't love the sick one any the less. I'm sorry when I don't succeed in pleasing the audience all the time, but I'm proud of the effort I've put into trying."

OUT OF PRISON — Gene Barry wishes he never was associated with Bat Masterson, TV role he played four years. "It was like being in theatrical prison, but now I'm out." Broadway and nightclubs are in store.

Clint Walker 'Model' For Young To Star

Ronnie Dapo may be only 4-foot-6, but he THINKS tall. The diminutive nine-year-old who plays Flip Rose in "Room for One More" wants to be a carbon copy of 6-foot-6 Clint Walker—right now!

That he's 24 inches short of his goal doesn't daunt Ronnie. He lives tall vicariously every day at the Warner Bros. lot where he and his towering hero walk over the same landscape; one with half-steps, the other with giant strides.

Peggie Castle's Thoughts Reflect Fresh Beauty

Peggie Castle of "Lawman" has delighted audiences with the beauty and freshness attributed to the 'typical American girl'.

"Heredity," says the green-eyed blond, "certainly isn't the complete answer.

"I live by the proven rules of good health, exercise daily, eight hours sleep, and proper diet. It's an excellent idea to feed your mind too. What you think really shows on how you look. So I try to think happy thoughts all the time."

Manya Starr Would Like To 'Cancel' Remark

Manya Starr, creator of "The Clear Horizon," was settled comfortably in her chair while her husband was catching up with his letter writing at the desk. Suddenly he stopped writing and looked up with a frown.

"Gosh," he said, "I had it on the tip of my tongue and it's gone."

"Don't worry," consoled Manya. "It's bound to come back to you."

"Not this," said her husband. "It was a four-cent stamp!"

Clint Walker 'Model' For Young To Star

Ronnie Dapo may be only 4-foot-6, but he THINKS tall. The diminutive nine-year-old who plays Flip Rose in "Room for One More" wants to be a carbon copy of 6-foot-6 Clint Walker—right now!

That he's 24 inches short of his goal doesn't daunt Ronnie. He lives tall vicariously every day at the Warner Bros. lot where he and his towering hero walk over the same landscape; one with half-steps, the other with giant strides.

Peggie Castle's Thoughts Reflect Fresh Beauty

Peggie Castle of "Lawman" has delighted audiences with the beauty and freshness attributed to the 'typical American girl'.

"Heredity," says the green-eyed blond, "certainly isn't the complete answer.

"I live by the proven rules of good health, exercise daily, eight hours sleep, and proper diet. It's an excellent idea to feed your mind too. What you think really shows on how you look. So I try to think happy thoughts all the time."

Manya Starr Would Like To 'Cancel' Remark

Manya Starr, creator of "The Clear Horizon," was settled comfortably in her chair while her husband was catching up with his letter writing at the desk. Suddenly he stopped writing and looked up with a frown.

"Gosh," he said, "I had it on the tip of my tongue and it's gone."

"Don't worry," consoled Manya. "It's bound to come back to you."

"Not this," said her husband. "It was a four-cent stamp!"
